Police Arrest 4 Youths in Robberies and Burglaries

CRIMES IN 4 CITIES BLAMED ON LOCAL GANG

Holdups and Breakins in Ada, Kenton, Upper Sandusky and Columbus.

Probable solutions to at least five burglaries of sporting goods stores in Upper Sandusky, Kenton and Columbus and armed robberies of the Forest Inn near Ada and a delicatessen store in Columbus was announced by Marion police today.

Four youths from this area are facing charges in Kenton and Columbus. All, police say, have admitted implication in some of the crimes.

The burglaries and holdups were committed in February and early March. The gang was rounded up by Marion police during the last two weeks, starting with the arrest of Delmer Lee Swearingen, 18, of near Marion.

Two of the boys, 16 and 18, were taken to Kenton Thursday and another, 22, to Columbus.

One Held To Grand Jury

William Swearingen, 18, of 1049 Davids street, a nephew of Delmer, was bound over to the Hardin county grand jury today when he pleaded not guilty before Justice of the Peace Worley Smith to a charge of aiding in the hold-up of the Forest Inn near Ada the night of March 2. He is being held in Hardin county jail, having failed to provide $2,500 bond.

Delmer Swearingen pleaded guilty to the same charge Wednesday and was bound over to the grand jury. He escaped from Hardin county jail shortly after his arraignment and was at large for about 15 minutes before recaptured.

Authorities said the 16-year-old boy will appear in juvenile court in Kenton Monday morning. He is from near Morral.

The fourth youth, 22, of Marion has been taken to Columbus to answer charges of burglary of two Columbus sporting goods stores, one on West Broad street and another on North High. Columbus police said he has also admitted holding up the proprietors of a northwest Columbus grocery store, a man and wife, and escaping with $92 from the cash register. Columbus police said he will be arraigned Monday on charges of armed robbery, burglary and grand larceny.

Delmer Swearingen is also said by Kenton authorities to have admitted participating in the burglary of the Columbus sports stores.

All of the youths have records with Marion police and in juvenile court here.

Robbery At Ada

The Forest Inn near Ada was held up by five masked men the night of March 2 and 30 patrons forced at gun point to stand by while $80 was taken from the cash register. In an ensuing fracas one of the patrons was slightly wounded by a bullet.

Marion Chief of Police William E. Marks said round-up of the gang was begun early this month with arrest of Delmer Swearingen.

At his home at Oak Knolls south of town, police reported finding in a barn a cache of approximately a dozen guns, both rifles and revolvers. Authorities from neighboring cities were brought in and the guns were identified as those stolen from Kenton and Upper Sandusky gun stores.

More guns were turned up when E. J. McBee, C. and O. railroad detective, reported that youths had sold several of the weapons to railroad trackworkers. The three other young men were brought in and admitted implication in the burglaries and hold-ups.

Many of the guns have been recovered, police report, being returned by purchasers from as far away as Kentucky.

FBI To Take Custody Of 3 Young Bandits

By The Associated Press

CIRCLEVILLE, O., March 22—Three young men who attempted to rob the First National bank at New Holland will be turned over to the FBI for prosecution, Sheriff Charles Radcliff announced today.

Dan Johnson, an FBI agent, was questioning the trio today. He said charges would be filed against them at Columbus and that they would be transferred to that city Monday.

Radcliff reported that the three apparently were not worried and "seem to consider the whole thing a joke."

The trio in custody, captured in London, O., a half hour after yesterday's holdup of the bank went haywire and took on comedy aspects, are Charles Maley, 23; Donald Neff, 17, and Carson Rice, 18, also of Springfield.

During the holdup, which one bank official described as a movie comedy affair, the bandits became rattled when a cylinder dropped from a revolver and had to be replaced. They finally fled when one of the bank personnel slammed a door.

SCHOOLS TO REOPEN FOR CLASSES MONDAY

Attendance Will Determine Whether Sessions Continue.

All Marion city schools, St. Mary Parochial school and the eight county schools, closed during the last week due to an influenza epidemic through the city, county and state, will resume classes Monday.

Whether or not the city schools will remain open will depend on the attendance, E. E. Holt, city school superintendent, announced. Dr. W. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, will be given a report of the attendance and will decide if the schools are to carry on.

In a report yesterday, Dr. Weinbaum stated that through his contacts with other physicians, influenza cases are still increasing, and he urged people to stay out of public gatherings.

The Marion city schools were closed last Monday noon and St. Mary dismissed Wednesday noon. The eight county schools closed are Prospect, Pleasant and Grand Prairie, Morral, Kirkpatrick, Meeker, Caledonia and Green Camp. An attempt to reopen Prospect and Pleasant on Thursday failed and the pupils were returned home.

ACHESON MISQUOTED ON RED GOVERNMENT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 22—Undersecretary of State Acheson was quoted erroneously yesterday as saying that a Communist-dominated government anywhere would endanger the security of the United States.

The misunderstanding arose during his questioning by Rep. Judd (R-Minn), at the house foreign affairs committee hearing. The questioning went thus:

Judd: "I understand our major reason for proposing and adopting this legislation (aid to Greece and Turkey), is our belief that it would be dangerous to the security of the United States to have Communist-dominated governments developing in Greece and Turkey, is that correct?"

Acheson: "That is correct."

Judd: "Well, would it or would it not be dangerous to the security of the United States to have a Communist-dominated government on the Pacific in China?"

Acheson: "I think we should not look with favor upon that."

It was at that point that some reporters understood Acheson to refer to Communist-dominated governments anywhere, but examination of the transcript established otherwise.

The state department, too, later issued a denial.

Truman Sets April As Cancer Control Month

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 22 — President Truman today proclaimed April as cancer control month and called for a united national effort to stamp out the disease.

Mr. Truman described cancer as "one of mankind's most insidious enemies." He asked all state governors, the medical profession, press, radio, the motion picture industry and individuals to aid in a program of education on cancer control.

RUBBER WORKERS TO MEET IN POLICY TALK

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 22 — The international policy committee of the CIO-United Rubber Workers was slated to convene here today with the URWA's executive board as a current wage dispute between the union and the "Big Four" firms of the industry approached the showdown stage.

Asserting that "we are trying to settle this problem," International Union President L. S. Buckmaster called the meeting of the union panels as the union's strike deadline of midnight tomorrow threatened a halt to production of the country's leading rubber plants.

Some 110,000 workers at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber, B. F. Goodrich, Firestone Tire and Rubber and U. S. Rubber plants scattered throughout the country would be affected by issuance of a URWA strike order to support union demands for a 16-cent hourly wage increase.

Bolstered by an overwhelmingly affirmative vote on the strike issue by local unionists, the union earlier demanded a 26-cent hourly hike, but reduced the demand by 10 cents in negotiations with Big Four representatives. A six-cent gap separated the URWA's new request for a 16 cents an hour raise and a recent company offer of a 10-cent boost.

G.O.P. FAILS TO END DISPUTE ON BUDGET

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 22—A reported Republican agreement upon a budget compromise, taxes and debt payment collapsed today at a senate-house committee conference.

Rep. Taber (R-NY) told reporters that house conferees, earlier reported in agreement with senate Republicans, "had unanimously insisted upon a $6,000,000,000 cut" in President Truman's budget estimates of $37,500,000,000 for the new fiscal year starting July 1.

Senator Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the senate appropriations committee who earlier had told reporters about the compromise reached at a secret session of Republicans, explained that "we thought we had an agreement but it failed."

Taber, chairman of the senate-house group appointed to work out differences, reported "we had one vote, talked things over for about an hour and then agreed to adjourn." He added that he did not know when another meeting will be held.

Police Hunt Aged Recluse

Uncertain Whether He Walks Streets or Lies Dead in Cluttered Home.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 22—Not knowing whether they were looking for a corpse buried under a 38-year-old accumulation of junk in a Fifth avenue ghost house, or for an aged and grief-stricken recluse wandering the streets of a strange modern city, police dug in again today in their search for legenary Langley Collyer, 71.

Some detectives theorized that he would be found alive—that he was the mysterious tipster who phoned police the news that his blind and crippled brother, Homer, 75, was dead in the decayed mansion where the wealthy, educated and aristocratic brothers had hidden from the world since 1909.

Other investigators believed Langley Collyer might be found dead somewhere in the booby-trapped labyrinth of litter they called home.

Twist Through Tunnels

After finding Homer's body yesterday, police seeking Langley poked for hours through the twisting tunnels that the fabulous brothers had devised through the high piles of assorted junk cramming their rat-infested house.

An autopsy on the emaciated Homer was scheduled at Bellevue hospital morgue, probably today.

The Collyer attorney, John R. McMullen, said he understood the brothers had many relatives—about 40 cousins in the metropolitan area, an uncle in Beacon, N. Y., and a branch of the family engaged in shipbuilding in Brazil.

Much of House Unexplored

Many parts of the old house remained unexplored late yesterday when police halted their search for Langley, who had nursed and cared for his helpless brother during many of the four decades they had grown old together in a world of their own.

The street search for Langley was concentrated in the vicinity of their home on upper Fifth avenue, because that was the only neighborhood he was known to have traveled in many years.

Police, who planned to complete search of the house today unless Langley was found elsewhere, had to be wary of crude booby traps the brothers had rigged up, apparently to trap any intruder. Wires were strung so that a foot caught in a strand would bring a heavy box or bale tumbling down.

STATE UNIVERSITIES INCREASE TUITIONS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 22—The price of an education at any one of Ohio's six state univeristies will be higher next year.

This was disclosed today with confirmation of action taken seven weeks ago by the Ohio State university trustees approving a 50 per cent rise in incidental and non-resident tuitions.

Business Manager Jacob B. Taylor of O.S.U. said that effective next Sept. 30, at the start of the autumn quarter, Ohio students would be levied $90 for a three-quarter school year and non-resident students would have to pay $225.

During the spring and summer quarters ahead, students will continue to pay the old fees of $20 a quarter for Ohioans and $50 quarterly for out-of-state undergraduates.

Taylor said that all Ohio colleges would have standard tuition schedules by next fall. He remarked that only two other state-supported universities, Ohio university and Kent State so far had announced their increased tuition authorizations.

Other state universities are Miami (at Oxford, O.) Bowling Green State, and Wilberforce.

A mutual agreement by members of the Ohio inter-univeristy council that no announcement would be made until all universities had obtained approval for fee increases was cited by Taylor as the reason a formal statement had not previously been released.

WILLING TO TALK PEACE

By The Associated Press

NANKING, March 22 — A government party official said today the government was prepared — under certain conditions —to resume peace talks with Chinese Communists. High party members said, however, that they were sure the Reds would not resume negotiations under any conditions.

DRIVE BEGINS TO TIE GREEK AID WITH UN

Congress Moves for Statement Reconciling Policy with Charter Terms.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 21—A bipartisan congressional drive got under way today to notify the world that the plan to shore up Greece and Turkey against Communism conforms with United Nations' "principles and purposes."

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich), of the senate foreign relations committee and Senator Connally (D-Tex), offered that declaration as a formal preamble to a measure authorizing President Truman to send the two southern European countries $400,000,000.

The plan, obviously intended to meet head-on charges in congress and foreign capitols that this country is snubbing the international organization, was advanced even as the administration was reported weighing a plan for reaffirming its support in UN.

Cite Council Action

Vandenberg and Connally, both closely associated with development of American diplomatic policy, cited in their proposed preamble evidence that the UN security council itself has recognized "the seriousness of the unsettled conditions" on the Greek frontier.

They called attention to recognition by the UN food and agriculture mission of "the necessity that Greece receive financial and economic assistance," and to its recommendation that the Greeks "request such assistance" from the UN and from this country and Britain.

Stressing anew what President Truman and Undersecretary of State Acheson already have emphasized, the proposed preamble points out that the UN "is not now in a position to furnish Greece and Turkey the financial and economic assistance which is immediately required."

"The furnishing of such assistance to Greece and Turkey by the United States," it adds, "will contribute to the freedom and independence of all members of the United Nations in conformity with the principles and purposes of the charter."

Twin Move Seen

There was evidence that this is part of a twin move to ease the concern of the smaller nations over the lone hand being pursued by this country in Greece and Turkey since Britain declared her own financial straits would force her to cast off some Mediterranean commitments.

Rail Union Favors Relief, but Not Arms, for Greece

CLEVELAND, March 22—Food and clothing donations to the Greeks were advocated today by leaders of the country's two largest railroad brotherhoods, but they balked at any U. S. military assistance to either Turkey or Greece.

In a statement on President Truman's recent proposal to congress, Grand Chief Engineer Alvanley Johnston of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and President A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen urged:

(1) That immediate relief in food and clothing be dispatched to "the suffering people of Greece, with the provision that distribution should be supervised by U. S. personnel."

(2) That the United States should not send military assistance to either Turkey or Greece. This problem, they said, is one for the United Nations.

"Communism as a way of life wins support chiefly from people who are hungry and oppressed, hopeless and desperate," the statement declared. "These conditions exist in Greece today.

"They can be removed, in large part, by the grant of assistance from the United States to feed the starving people and to enable the stricken Greek economy to recover, spreading prosperity throughout the land.

"The challenge of Russia as a powerful nation is not one which the United States should meet alone. For that reason we are opposed to the proposal that the United States send military assistance to either Turkey or Greece • • •"

GIRL, FIANCE NAMED IN MURDER CHARGE

By The Associated Press

SANTA ANA, Calif., March 22—Heiress Beulah Louise Overell, 17, and her fiance, George R. Gollum, 21, were named in murder accusations today in connection with the deaths of her wealthy parents aboard their yacht, blown up in Newport harbor last Saturday night.

Chief of Police R. R. Hodgkinson of Newport Beach said the written accusations would be presented today in the court of Justice of the Peace Howard C. Cameron as the basis for murder complaints charging the college student sweethearts with killing Mr. and Mrs. Walter Overell, who left a reported $600,000 fortune.

Chief Hodgkinson and Sheriff James Musick of Orange county planned to arraign the couple, who expected to be married April 30, her 18th birthday anniversary, after complaints are issued. Then a preliminary hearing would be set.

Overell, 62, head of a Los Angeles finance company, and his wife, Beulah, 57, died in a dynamite blast aboard the yacht but Sheriff Musick said evidence indicated they had been slain with a ball peen hammer before the explosion.

Beulah and Gollum, arrested Wednesday and booked for murder, have not been permitted to see each other since. Drawings of charges, Sheriff Musick said, was to prevent attorneys for the couple from obtaining their freedom via habeas corpus writs.

Musick and Hodgkinson said they would present "convincing and conclusive evidence" that Overell and his wife were bludgeoned to death before their 47-foot-yacht, the Mary E, exploded and sank in 18 feet of water about 150 feet from shore.

MOTORISTS' COMPLAINTS OF GAS HIKE BRING PROBE

Anti-Trust Division To Investigate Recent Price Boosts.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 22—Motorists' complaints over widespread boosts in gasoline prices the past two weeks has started an inquiry by the justice department's anti-trust division.

The department said last night it has received many complaints about the increases which, reports from representative cities show, range generally from a half-cent to a cent and a half a gallon. In some areas the advances were the second in recent weeks.

"We are studying the situation and have been doing so for some time through the anti-trust division."

Two governors, Mon C. Wallgren of Washington and Earl Warren of California, joined in criticizing the increases and in asking an FBI investigation.

URGES RETURN TO PRE-HITLER GOVERNMENT

Surprises Big 4, Expecting Demand for Strong Central State.

(Pictorial story of Germanys' past and possible future governments on Page 8)

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 22—The Moscow radio said Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov asked the council of foreign ministers today to establish a decentralized German government.

The broadcast, recorded by the Soviet monitor here, quoted Molotov as saying:

"The Hitlerite centralization of the state administration, which destroyed the landtags (provicial diets) and the autonomous administration of the laender (states) must be liquidated, so the decentralization of the administration will be restored which existed before the establishment of the Hitler regime, with the restoration of the landtags and two all-German chambers."

French Plan Similar

French officials previously had urged decentralization and the United States and Britain suggested federalization.

There had been widespread belief in the western capitals that Russia favored a strongly centralized German government and this was foreseen as a major issue of the Moscow conference.

Molotov was quoted as saying that "the political system of Germany must have a democratic character and the organs of power must be formed on the basis of a democratic election."

"Such a provisional German government must be set up as could, while ensuring the political and economic unity of Germany, simultaneously assume responsibility for the fulfillment of Germany's obligations to the Allied states," the radio quoted him.

Proposes Departments

Molotov proposed that the German government include "Central German administrative departments on finance, industry, transport, communications and foreign trade," the broadcast reported.

He suggested that the Allied control council in Berlin work out a provisional democratic constitution for Germany with the help of "the democratic parties, the free trade unions and other anti-Nazi organizations."

His plan, as broadcast, proposed that elections be held "in accordance with the provisional German constitution, after which a provisional German government should be formed."

The prime task of the provisional government, he said, should be eradication of "the remnants of German militarism and fascism" in accordance with the Potsdam agreement.

"A permanent constitution of Germany must be approved by the Allied people," he added.

Under his plan, a president of the German republic would be elected by a parliament consisting of two chambers.

"On the whole territory of Germany, an all-German constitution established by parliament will operate and in the laender the constitutions of the laender established by landtags."

Molotov was quoted as saying that the parliament and the landtags be elected "on the basis of a univeral, equal and direct electoral law, with secret voting and the proportional system."

French Favor Loosely Federated Germany

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 22—Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France proposed today a decentralized, loosely federated government structure for Germany, but warned that France opposed rapid establishment of even a provisional regime.

The French minister suggested that a one-house parliament be authorized, with its members to be chosen by the states. He stressed delegation of virtually all powers to the states.

He said the French opposition was that any establishment of a provisional government for Germany was "premature" but that his delegation found the U. S. government proposal for a federalized Germany "interesting." He indicated there were grounds for a compromise.

8-Foot Trailer Is Home for Couple And Six Children

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 22 — An eight-foot-square trailer has been home for nearly eight months for Lee Williams, 32, his wife, Minerva, 34, and their six children.

The trailer is so small that the only member of the family with a bed to herself is Joanne, 8 months, and she sleeps in a clothes basket on the floor.

The five other children sleep in an upper bunk, the girls with their heads to the east and the two boys with their heads to the west. The parents sleep beneath their brood on a lower bunk.

Williams, a veteran of the Army Air Forces, earns $50 weekly as a railroad freight handler.

"My wife is a good budgeter," he said. "We could pay as high as $30 a month rent and still have three good meals a day. But there isn't such a thing as a $30 apartment, and landlords frown when I tell them we have six children. I've ridden street cars all over this city answering ads and knocking on doors looking for an apartment vacancy."

OHIOAN CONFESSES SLAYING AGED MAN

By The Associated Press

GREENFIELD, O., March 22—Highland County Prosecutor Eugene Hahne said today that Cecil Yankey, 39, early today confessed in a signed statement the slaying of 74-year-old LeRoy Woodland, an old age pensioner, during a fight.

The prosecutor declared the first break in the case came when 23-year-old Mabel Watts, whom he identified as Yankye's "girl friend," broke down and asserted Yankey assaulted the aged man, whose body was found early Thursday morning in the bedroom of his three-room home in suburban Higginsville.

With Miss Watts statement on the record, Yankey then dictated and signed a statement, Prosecutor Hahne declared.

Yankey related the circumstances of the quarrel which led to the bludgeoning, but the prosecutor did not release that story.

Hahne said he planned to file charges of murder against Yankey Monday. The man, whom Hahne said had a prison record, is being held in Highland county jail.

Miss Watts, who the prosecutor said had been residing with the two men, is held as a material witness in the Greenfield city jail.

Yankey, said the county prosecutor, has served terms in Boys Industrial Schol at Lancaster, at Mansfield reformatory and twice

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

THE rotund elderly physician who has been at my father's side in so many emergencies of the government intelligence service, especially during World War II, came into the room, smiling in his usual genial fashion at me.

Dicky waved a jaunty hand at Mary over the physician's shoulder.

"So long, Brat!" he said. "I'm going to man the portcullis—or is it the drawbridge?—or the moat? —outside, so that nobody disturbs this consultation. Ride herd on her, Doctor, with a stiff rein. She needs it!"

Had Told Everything

I knew that Dicky must have told Mr. Twitchell everything he himself knew about Mary's condition, but there was no hint of that knowledge in the old physician's face or eyes, and I knew that my husband must also have imposed secrecy on him.

As Dicky left the room, I drew a chair toward Dr. Twitchell. He took it and set it down close to Mary's bed. Then he sat down, and taking Mary's wrist in his fingers, with his wrist watch held before his eyes, as I had done, he counted her pulse. When he laid her wrist down, Mary smiled up at him.

"I suppose it's bounding from crag to crag like a blasted gazalle," she said, and the old physician chuckled.

"It isn't so bad," he answered non-committally. Then he turned to me as he rose and took his small case from the floor.

"Where is your bathroom?" he asked. "I suppose you have running hot water."

Indicated the Door

"Boiling, part of the time," I told him, and indicated the door.

"Good!" he commented, and disappeared into the bathroom, reappearing a few seconds later with a clinical thermometer in his hand, at the sight of which Mary groaned.

"Auntie Madge took my temperature a few minutes ago," she said dolefully.

Dr. Twitchell turned to me abruptly,

"What was it?" he asked.

"A degree and two tenths," I answered.

"H-m!" he commented. "It will be interesting to see what it is now. Did you take her pulse?"

"Yes."

"What was it?"

I told him, and he once more said "H-m!" It is a sort of trademark with him. He always sounds it when he is given any information about a patient.

Turned Back

Then he turned back to Mary.

"Under your tongue," he directed, and she opened her mouth docilely, closed her lips on the thermometer, and kept them closed until Dr. Twitchell removed it. Then they parted in pathetic eagerness while we both waited for the physician's verdict.

"Exactly one degree and two tenths," he said, "and your pulse has the same rate also as the earlier reading. But," he added slowly, "I would be willing to wager that both were higher before you reached home."

"You mean reached sanctuary," she said, but Dr. Twitchell was speaking as if he had not heard her.

"Tell me how you felt on the plane," he said, and I saw that he was watching her intently.

Felt Rotten

"Perfectly rotten," she told him. "First, I felt as if the plane were on fire, I was so hot, and then I'd shake with chills as if the blasted thing were flying over the north pole. And I couldn't eat anything. I wasn't plane-sick—never am—but I knew I would be if I put anything inside me."

"H-mm!" Dr. Twitchell turned to me. "What has she had since she arrived?"

"I am ashamed to tell you," I replied. "I did not know she had a temperature, and I ordered the snacks she used to enjoy—caviar and anchovy sandwiches and Camember cheese and crackers, with plenty of hot tea."

"Did she eat them?" Dr. Twitchell asked, and my mental barometer shot downward. Had the delicacies Mary so loved been injurious?

Police Arrest 4 Youths in Robberies and Burglaries

CRIMES IN 4 CITIES BLAMED ON LOCAL GANG

Holdups and Breakins in Ada, Kenton, Upper Sandusky and Columbus.

Probable solutions to at least five burglaries of sporting goods stores in Upper Sandusky, Kenton and Columbus and armed robberies of the Forest Inn near Ada and a delicatessen store in Columbus was announced by Marion police today.

Four youths from this area are facing charges in Kenton and Columbus. All, police say, have admitted implication in some of the crimes.

The burglaries and holdups were committed in February and early March. The gang was rounded up by Marion police during the last two weeks, starting with the arrest of Delmer Lee Swearingen, 18, of near Marion.

Two of the boys, 16 and 18, were taken to Kenton Thursday and another, 22, to Columbus.

One Held To Grand Jury

William Swearingen, 18, of 1049 Davids street, a nephew of Delmer, was bound over to the Hardin county grand jury today when he pleaded not guilty before Justice of the Peace Worley Smith to a charge of aiding in the hold-up of the Forest Inn near Ada the night of March 2. He is being held in Hardin county jail, having failed to provide $2,500 bond.

Delmer Swearingen pleaded guilty to the same charge Wednesday and was bound over to the grand jury. He escaped from Hardin county jail shortly after his arraignment and was at large for about 15 minutes before recaptured.

Authorities said the 16-year-old boy will appear in juvenile court in Kenton Monday morning. He is from near Morral.

The fourth youth, 22, of Marion has been taken to Columbus to answer charges of burglary of two Columbus sporting goods stores, one on West Broad street and another on North High. Columbus police said he has also admitted holding up the proprietors of a northwest Columbus grocery store, a man and wife, and escaping with $92 from the cash register. Columbus police said he will be arraigned Monday on charges of armed robbery, burglary and grand larceny.

Delmer Swearingen is also said by Kenton authorities to have admitted participating in the burglary of the Columbus sports stores.

All of the youths have records with Marion police and in juvenile court here.

Robbery At Ada

The Forest Inn near Ada was held up by five masked men the night of March 2 and 30 patrons forced at gun point to stand by while $80 was taken from the cash register. In an ensuing fracas one of the patrons was slightly wounded by a bullet.

Marion Chief of Police William E. Marks said round-up of the gang was begun early this month with arrest of Delmer Swearingen.

At his home at Oak Knolls south of town, police reported finding in a barn a cache of approximately a dozen guns, both rifles and revolvers. Authorities from neighboring cities were brought in and the guns were identified as those stolen from Kenton and Upper Sandusky gun stores.

More guns were turned up when E. J. McBee, C. and O. railroad detective, reported that youths had sold several of the weapons to railroad trackworkers. The three other young men were brought in and admitted implication in the burglaries and hold-ups.

Many of the guns have been recovered, police report, being returned by purchasers from as far away as Kentucky.

FBI To Take Custody Of 3 Young Bandits

By The Associated Press

CIRCLEVILLE, O., March 22—Three young men who attempted to rob the First National bank at New Holland will be turned over to the FBI for prosecution, Sheriff Charles Radcliff announced today.

Dan Johnson, an FBI agent, was questioning the trio today. He said charges would be filed against them at Columbus and that they would be transferred to that city Monday.

Radcliff reported that the three apparently were not worried and "seem to consider the whole thing a joke."

The trio in custody, captured in London, O., a half hour after yesterday's holdup of the bank went haywire and took on comedy aspects, are Charles Maley, 23; Donald Neff, 17, and Carson Rice, 18, also of Springfield.

During the holdup, which one bank official described as a movie comedy affair, the bandits became rattled when a cylinder dropped from a revolver and had to be replaced. They finally fled when one of the bank personnel slammed a door.

NEWS PLANT'S FLOOR CAVES IN. It was lunch time and normally 100 men would have been at work on the fourth floor of this partly finished new rotogravure plant in Philadelphia when it collapsed with this result. As it was, seven men were plunged to the basement of the structure, four being injured seriously. The multi-million dollar plant was being built by the Philadelphia Inquirer. SCHOOLS TO REOPEN FOR CLASSES MONDAY

Attendance Will Determine Whether Sessions Continue.

All Marion city schools, St. Mary Parochial school and the eight county schools, closed during the last week due to an influenza epidemic through the city, county and state, will resume classes Monday.

Whether or not the city schools will remain open will depend on the attendance, E. E. Holt, city school superintendent, announced. Dr. W. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, will be given a report of the attendance and will decide if the schools are to carry on.

In a report yesterday, Dr. Weinbaum stated that through his contacts with other physicians, influenza cases are still increasing, and he urged people to stay out of public gatherings.

The Marion city schools were closed last Monday noon and St. Mary dismissed Wednesday noon. The eight county schools closed are Prospect, Pleasant and Grand Prairie, Morral, Kirkpatrick, Meeker, Caledonia and Green Camp. An attempt to reopen Prospect and Pleasant on Thursday failed and the pupils were returned home.

ACHESON MISQUOTED ON RED GOVERNMENT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 22—Undersecretary of State Acheson was quoted erroneously yesterday as saying that a Communist-dominated government anywhere would endanger the security of the United States.

The misunderstanding arose during his questioning by Rep. Judd (R-Minn), at the house foreign affairs committee hearing. The questioning went thus:

Judd: "I understand our major reason for proposing and adopting this legislation (aid to Greece and Turkey), is our belief that it would be dangerous to the security of the United States to have Communist-dominated governments developing in Greece and Turkey, is that correct?"

Acheson: "That is correct."

Judd: "Well, would it or would it not be dangerous to the security of the United States to have a Communist-dominated government on the Pacific in China?"

Acheson: "I think we should not look with favor upon that."

It was at that point that some reporters understood Acheson to refer to Communist-dominated governments anywhere, but examination of the transcript established otherwise.

The state department, too, later issued a denial.

Truman Sets April As Cancer Control Month

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 22 — President Truman today proclaimed April as cancer control month and called for a united national effort to stamp out the disease.

Mr. Truman described cancer as "one of mankind's most insidious enemies." He asked all state governors, the medical profession, press, radio, the motion picture industry and individuals to aid in a program of education on cancer control.

RUBBER WORKERS TO MEET IN POLICY TALK

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 22 — The international policy committee of the CIO-United Rubber Workers was slated to convene here today with the URWA's executive board as a current wage dispute between the union and the "Big Four" firms of the industry approached the showdown stage.

Asserting that "we are trying to settle this problem," International Union President L. S. Buckmaster called the meeting of the union panels as the union's strike deadline of midnight tomorrow threatened a halt to production of the country's leading rubber plants.

Some 110,000 workers at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber, B. F. Goodrich, Firestone Tire and Rubber and U. S. Rubber plants scattered throughout the country would be affected by issuance of a URWA strike order to support union demands for a 16-cent hourly wage increase.

Bolstered by an overwhelmingly affirmative vote on the strike issue by local unionists, the union earlier demanded a 26-cent hourly hike, but reduced the demand by 10 cents in negotiations with Big Four representatives. A six-cent gap separated the URWA's new request for a 16 cents an hour raise and a recent company offer of a 10-cent boost.

G.O.P. FAILS TO END DISPUTE ON BUDGET

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 22—A reported Republican agreement upon a budget compromise, taxes and debt payment collapsed today at a senate-house committee conference.

Rep. Taber (R-NY) told reporters that house conferees, earlier reported in agreement with senate Republicans, "had unanimously insisted upon a $6,000,000,000 cut" in President Truman's budget estimates of $37,500,000,000 for the new fiscal year starting July 1.

Senator Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the senate appropriations committee who earlier had told reporters about the compromise reached at a secret session of Republicans, explained that "we thought we had an agreement but it failed."

Taber, chairman of the senate-house group appointed to work out differences, reported "we had one vote, talked things over for about an hour and then agreed to adjourn." He added that he did not know when another meeting will be held.

DECENTRALIZED REICH SUGGESTED BY MOLOTOV

Police Hunt Aged Recluse

Uncertain Whether He Walks Streets or Lies Dead in Cluttered Home.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 22 — Not knowing whether they were looking for a corpse buried under a 38-year-old accumulation of junk in a Fifth avenue ghost house, or for an aged and grief-stricken recluse wandering the streets of a strange modern city, police dug in again today in their search for legenary Langley Collyer, 71.

Some detectives theorized that he would be found alive—that he was the mysterious tipster who phoned police the news that his blind and crippled brother, Homer, 75, was dead in the decayed mansion where the wealthy, educated and aristocratic brothers had hidden from the world since 1909.

Other investigators believed Langley Collyer might be found dead somewhere in the booby-trapped labyrinth of litter they called home.

Twist Through Tunnels

After finding Homer's body yesterday, police seeking Langley poked for hours through the twisting tunnels that the fabulous brothers had devised through the high piles of assorted junk cramming their rat-infested house.

An autopsy on the emaciated Homer was scheduled at Bellevue hospital morgue, probably today.

The Collyer attorney, John R. McMullen, said he understood the brothers had many relatives—about 40 cousins in the metropolitan area, an uncle in Beacon, N. Y., and a branch of the family engaged in shipbuilding in Brazil.

Much of House Unexplored

Many parts of the old house remained unexplored late yesterday when police halted their search for Langley, who had nursed and cared for his helpless brother during many of the four decades they had grown old together in a world of their own.

The street search for Langley was concentrated in the vicinity of their home on upper Fifth avenue, because that was the only neighborhood he was known to have traveled in many years.

Police, who planned to complete search of the house today unless Langley was found elsewhere, had to be wary of crude booby traps the brothers had rigged up, apparently to trap any intruder. Wires were strung so that a foot caught in a strand would bring a heavy box or bale tumbling down.

STATE UNIVERSITIES INCREASE TUITIONS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 22—The price of an education at any one of Ohio's six state universities will be higher next year.

This was disclosed today with confirmation of action taken seven weeks ago by the Ohio State university trustees approving a 50 per cent rise in incidental and non-resident tuitions.

Business Manager Jacob B. Taylor of O.S.U. said that effective next Sept. 30, at the start of the autumn quarter, Ohio students would be levied $90 for a three-quarter school year and non-resident students would have to pay $225.

During the spring and summer quarters ahead, students will continue to pay the old fees of $20 a quarter for Ohioans and $50 quarterly for out-of-state undergraduates.

Taylor said that all Ohio colleges would have standard tuition schedules by next fall. He remarked that only two other state-supported universities, Ohio university and Kent State so far had announced their increased tuition authorizations.

Other state universities are Miami (at Oxford, O.) Bowling Green State, and Wilberforce.

A mutual agreement by members of the Ohio inter-university council that no announcement would be made until all universities had obtained approval for fee increases was cited by Taylor as the reason a formal statement had not previously been released.

WILLING TO TALK PEACE

By The Associated Press

NANKING, March 22 — A government party official said today the government was prepared — under certain conditions —to resume peace talks with Chinese Communists. High party members said, however, that they were sure the Reds would not resume negotiations under any conditions.

DRIVE BEGINS TO TIE GREEK AID WITH UN

Congress Moves for Statement Reconciling Policy with Charter Terms.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 21—A bipartisan congressional drive got under way today to notify the world that the plan to shore up Greece and Turkey against Communism conforms with United Nations' "principles and purposes."

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich), of the senate foreign relations committee and Senator Connally (D-Tex), offered that declaration as a formal preamble to a measure authorizing President Truman to send the two southern European countries $400,000,000.

The plan, obviously intended to meet head-on charges in congress and foreign capitols that this country is snubbing the international organization, was advanced even as the administration was reported weighing a plan for reaffirming its support in UN.

Cite Council Action

Vandenberg and Connally, both closely associated with development of American diplomatic policy, cited in their proposed preamble evidence that the UN security council itself has recognized "the seriousness of the unsettled conditions" on the Greek frontier.

They called attention to recognition by the UN food and agriculture mission of "the necessity that Greece receive financial and economic assistance," and to its recommendation that the Greeks "request such assistance" from the UN and from this country and Britain.

Stressing anew what President Truman and Undersecretary of State Acheson already have emphasized, the proposed preamble points out that the UN "is not now in a position to furnish Greece and Turkey the financial and economic assistance which is immediately required."

"The furnishing of such assistance to Greece and Turkey by the United States," it adds, "will contribute to the freedom and independence of all members of the United Nations in conformity with the principles and purposes of the charter."

Twin Move Seen

There was evidence that this is part of a twin move to ease the concern of the smaller nations over the lone hand being pursued by this country in Greece and Turkey since Britain declared her own financial straits would force her to cast off some Mediterranean commitments.

Rail Union Favors Relief, but Not Arms, for Greece

CLEVELAND, March 22—Food and clothing donations to the Greeks were advocated today by leaders of the country's two largest railroad brotherhoods, but they balked at any U. S. military assistance to either Turkey or Greece.

In a statement on President Truman's recent proposal to congress, Grand Chief Engineer Alvanley Johnston of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and President A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen urged:

(1) That immediate relief in food and clothing be dispatched to "the suffering people of Greece, with the provision that distribution should be supervised by U. S. personnel."

(2) That the United States should not send military assistance to either Turkey or Greece. This problem, they said, is one for the United Nations.

"Communism as a way of life wins support chiefly from people who are hungry and oppressed, hopeless and desperate," the statement declared. "These conditions exist in Greece today.

"They can be removed, in large part, by the grant of assistance from the United States to feed the starving people and to enable the stricken Greek economy to recover, spreading prosperity throughout the land.

"The challenge of Russia as a powerful nation is not one which the United States should meet alone. For that reason we are opposed to the proposal that the United States send military assistance to either Turkey or Greece. • • •"

GIRL, FIANCE NAMED IN MURDER CHARGE

By The Associated Press

SANTA ANA, Calif., March 22—Heiress Beulah Louise Overell, 17, and her fiance, George R. Gollum, 21, were named in murder accusations today in connection with the deaths of her wealthy parents aboard their yacht, blown up in Newport harbor last Saturday night.

Chief of Police R. R. Hodgkinson of Newport Beach said the written accusations would be presented today in the court of Justice of the Peace Howard C. Cameron as the basis for murder complaints charging the college student sweethearts with killing Mr. and Mrs. Walter Overell, who left a reported $600,000 fortune.

Chief Hodgkinson and Sheriff James Musick of Orange county planned to arraign the couple, who expected to be married April 30, her 18th birthday anniversary, after complaints are issued. Then a preliminary hearing would be set.

Overell, 62, head of a Los Angeles finance company, and his wife, Beulah, 57, died in a dynamite blast aboard the yacht but Sheriff Musick said evidence indicated they had been slain with a ball peen hammer before the explosion.

Beulah and Gollum, arrested Wednesday and booked for murder, have not been permitted to see each other since. Drawings of charges, Sheriff Musick said, was to prevent attorneys for the couple from obtaining their freedom via habeas corpus writs.

Musick and Hodgkinson said they would present "convincing and conclusive evidence" that Overell and his wife were bludgeoned to death before their 47-foot-yacht, the Mary E, exploded and sank in 18 feet of water about 150 feet from shore.

MOTORISTS' COMPLAINTS OF GAS HIKE BRING PROBE

Anti-Trust Division To Investigate Recent Price Boosts.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 22—Motorists' complaints over widespread boosts in gasoline prices the past two weeks has started an inquiry by the justice department's anti-trust division.

The department said last night it has received many complaints about the increases which, reports from representative cities show, range generally from a half-cent to a cent and a half a gallon. In some areas the advances were the second in recent weeks.

"We are studying the situation and have been doing so for some time through the anti-trust division."

Two governors, Mon C. Wallgren of Washington and Earl Warren of California, joined in criticizing the increases and in asking an FBI investigation.

8-Foot Trailer Is Home for Couple And Six Children

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 22 — An eight-foot-square trailer has been home for nearly eight months for Lee Williams, 32, his wife, Minerva, 34, and their six children.

The trailer is so small that the only member of the family with a bed to herself is Joanne, 8 months, and she sleeps in a clothes basket on the floor.

The five other children sleep in an upper bunk, the girls with their heads to the east and the two boys with their heads to the west. The parents sleep beneath their brood on a lower bunk.

Williams, a veteran of the Army Air Forces, earns $50 weekly as a railroad freight handler.

"My wife is a good budgetor," he said. "We could pay as high as $30 a month rent and still have three good meals a day. But there isn't such a thing as a $30 apartment, and landlords frown when I tell them we have six children. I've ridden street cars all over this city answering ads and knocking on doors looking for an apartment vacancy."

OHIOAN CONFESSES SLAYING AGED MAN

By The Associated Press

GREENFIELD, O., March 22—Highland County Prosecutor Eugene Hahne said today that Cecil Yankey, 39, early today confessed in a signed statement the slaying of 74-year-old LeRoy Woodland, an old age pensioner, during a fight.

The prosecutor declared the first break in the case came when 23-year-old Mabel Watts, whom he identified as Yankye's "girl friend," broke down and asserted Yankey assaulted the aged man, whose body was found early Thursday morning in the bedroom of his three-room home in suburban Higginsville.

With Miss Watts statement on the record, Yankey then dictated and signed a statement, Prosecutor Hahne declared.

Yankey related the circumstances of the quarrel which led to the bludgeoning, but the prosecutor did not release that story.

Hahne said he planned to file charges of murder against Yankey Monday. The man, whom Hahne said had a prison record, is being held in Highland county jail.

Miss Watts, who the prosecutor said had been residing with the two men, is held as a material witness in the Greenfield city jail.

Yankey, said the county prosecutor, has served terms in Boys Industrial Schol at Lancaster, at Mansfield reformatory and twice

URGES RETURN TO PRE-HITLER GOVERNMENT

Surprises Big 4, Expecting Demand for Strong Central State.

(Pictorial story of Germanys' past and possible future governments on Page 9)

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 22—The Moscow radio said Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov asked the council of foreign ministers today to establish a decentralized German government.

The broadcast, recorded by the Soviet monitor here, quoted Molotov as saying:

"The Hitlerite centralization of the state administration, which destroyed the landtags (provicial diets) and the autonomous administration of the laender (states) must be liquidated, so the decentralization of the administration will be restored which existed before the establishment of the Hitler regime, with the restoration of the landtags and two all-German chambers."

French Plan Similar

French officials previously had urged decentralization and the United States and Britain suggested federalization.

There had been widespread belief in the western capitals that Russia favored a strongly centralized German government and this was foreseen as a major issue of the Moscow conference.

Molotov was quoted as saying that "the political system of Germany must have a democratic character and the organs of power must be formed on the basis of a democratic election."

"Such a provisional German government must be set up as could, while ensuring the political and economic unity of Germany, simultaneously assume responsibility for the fulfillment of Germany's obligations to the Allied states," the radio quoted him.

Proposes Departments

Molotov proposed that the German government include "Central German administrative departments on finance, industry, transport, communications and foreign trade," the broadcast reported.

He suggested that the Allied control council in Berlin work out a provisional democratic constitution for Germany with the help of "the democratic parties, the free trade unions and other anti-Nazi organizations."

His plan, as broadcast, proposed that elections be held "in accordance with the provisional German constitution, after which a provisional German government should be formed."

The prime task of the provisional government, he said, should be eradication of "the remnants of German militarism and fascism" in accordance with the Potsdam agreement.

"A permanent constitution of Germany must be approved by the Allied people," he added.

Under his plan, a president of the German republic would be elected by a parliament consisting of two chambers.

"On the whole territory of Germany, an all-German constitution established by parliament will operate and in the laender the constitutions of the laender established by landtags."

Molotov was quoted as saying that the parliament and the landtags be elected "on the basis of a universal, equal and direct electoral law, with secret voting and the proportional system."

French Favor Loosely Federated Germany

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 22—Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France proposed today a decentralized, loosely federated government structure for Germany, but warned that France opposed rapid establishment of even a provisional regime.

The French minister suggested that a one-house parliament be authorized, with its members to be chosen by the states. He stressed delegation of virtually all powers to the states.

He said the French opposition was that any establishment of a provisional government for Germany was "premature" but that his delegation found the U. S. government proposal for a federalized Germany "interesting." He indicated there were grounds for a compromise.

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATIONS

IN THE CHRIST OF THE CROSS WE GLORY

Today's Text: "Return to Me with your whole heart." Joel 2:12.

THE Lenten season is a special call to repentance in view of what God in Christ has done for us. By repentance we mean a willingness to adjust our lives to the standards of God's will. This is essential to the forgiveness of sin.

There are three steps that lead to forgiveness. The first is God's love. The second is faith, which is the believer's response to God's love. The third is repentance, which grows out of faith.

What does repentance mean to Joel? To repent is to turn away from sin and to come back to God's way of doing things. It is a changed attitude of the whole inner man. It is a different way of thinking, feeling, willing. It is a desire to do God's will or a change of heart in thought, word and deed.

CONGRESS CONFIDENT OF KILLING PORTAL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 22—On the strength of decisive house and senate victories for legislation killing portal pay suits, Republicans spoke confidently today of overriding a veto by President Truman if necessary.

The senate vote for a measure to outlaw virtually all pending and future portal claims was 74 to 24.

It now goes to the house, which passed a similar bill three weeks ago, 435 to 56.

Next week a house-senate conference committee will iron out the differences. Ratification is a foregone conclusion.

Then the bill will go to the White House.

With a two-thirds vote needed to override a veto, G.O.P. congressional leaders could point to the fact that they mustered the required strength—and more—in both the house and senate.

In the senate yesterday, 18 Democrats joined with 48 Republicans in approving the portal bill voiding pending claims for nearly $6,000,000,000. The Democrats lost, 53 to 35, an earlier attempt to substitute a milder bill for the G.O.P.-sponsored measure finally adopted. They proposed to exempt future back-wage claims from the general ban.

Democrats who opposed final passage contended the bill would wreck the wage-hour act, which fixes minimum wages and maximum hours.

"I earnestly hope," Senator Pepper (D-Fla), told a reporter, "that President Truman will veto this bill, with an explantatory message that he is willing to outlaw frivolous and unjust portal claims, but is unwilling to participate in striking a mortal blow at the wage-hour law."

COLUMBUS, O., March 22 — Concluding a two-day convention here, the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers yesterday elected John D. Coleman, General Motors Corp. industrial engineer, of Dayton, O., to the organization's presidency.

He succeeds Allison C. Neff, of Middleton, vice president of the Armco Drainage Products. Elected vice presidents were John J. Heler of Columbus, of the state highway department, and Arthur E. Rowe, Cleveland consulting engineer.

The engineers reelected Prof. J. R. Shank of Ohio State university, treasurer, and D. W. Converse, of Akron, bridge engineer for the Akron, Canton and Youngstown Railway, secretary.

Columbus Clashes With U.S. on Smoke Abatement

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 22—It was the city of Columbus vs. the federal government today on the matter of smoke abatement.

In the midst of an anti-smoke campaign, city officials had M. F. Jones, chief engineer of the new post office, arrested and charged with violation of the Columbus smoke ordinance.

He was taken across the street yesterday to the city jail and held until U. S. Attorney Ray O'Donnell called Mayor James Rhodes. When the case went before Police Judge Rodney W. Ross, Jones pleaded innocence. The case was continued until April 21.

O'Donnell plans to press the question of jurisdiction.

No Glamor To Circus Preparing for Opening

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

SARASOTA, Fla., March 21—A circus getting ready for its spring opening is about as glamorous as a middle aged chorus girl with her nose peeling from sunburn.

The ordeal of the road is as nothing to the ordeal of getting ready.

In their winter quarters on the edge of Sarasota performers of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus are rounding into shape for the season debut April 9th in Madison Square Garden.

Hal Boyle

Under the flapping canvas of the big tent, thick - calved young dancers in sloppy slacks rehearse without spangle or glitter while the director's tired voice rasps over and over:

"Do not stop with the poles. I told you that. Didn't I tell ya that a hunnert times? Do not stop with the poles."

Lions Shake Cages

Broad-backed horses trot in everlasting circles, lions shake their cages with coughing roars and thirty elephants dream of free peanuts.

Chorus lassies who never had their feet more than a high kick off the floor five weeks ago soar nimbly up the ropes to practice an aerial can-can which will give the fathers something to admire while the children are laughing at the clowns.

"It's a circus with its coat off now," said big Jim Haley, its cigar-puffing president. "Here's where the real work is."

Circus proprietors don't speak with the superlative eloquence of other years. Apparently they leased all their adjectives to the Hollywood movie producers.

"We just think we've got the finest show we ever put together—let it go at that," said Haley.

Like Baseball Plays

"Circus acts are like baseball plays. This year we've got an entire new team. Last season was the best in circus history. Things have quieted down a little, but we expect a good year."

The exuberant vice-president, John Ringling North, said that the 40 acts he had hired during his first post-war raid of European talent were all new to American audiences.

The circus is also continuing its wartime program of luring more grownups to tent seats by emphasizing sex as well as clowns and wild animals. John Murray Anderson is producing a spectacular show employing a hundred girls.

The girls get from $40 to $130 a week—depending upon whether they just dance in the ballets or also play hopscotch with the elephants.

40 Per Cent Turnover

"Each year 40 per cent of the girls are new to the circus," an official said. "Lots of 'em get married every year."

Others presumably just get tired of lying in the tanbark looking up at the toenails of an uplifted elephant's foot and wondering whether the pachyderm will slip on a banana peel.

The circus will go north this year in a hundred gay red railroad cars carrying 1,400 workers, performers and people who pass out free tickets.

Gargantua, the gorilla who looks like a gorilla, will have a little "tiny tot" competition from two baby jaguars and two newborn leopards. The jaguars are being nursed by a friendly housecat, the leopards by a dazed lady dog.

Vice President North is annoyed with the U. S. department of agriculture which declined to let him bring in a Belgian pig act under Belgium's immigration quota.

"They have some kind of rule against admitting cloven-hoofed animals," he said, "but one of these pigs was wonderful. He could push bells with his snout and play 'Whose Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf.'

"I'm still trying to get that pig in. We shouldn't ban educated animals like that from America."

SEES SMOKE SCREEN IN SCHOOL BONUS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 22 — Proposed legislation to give teachers a cost-of-living bonus was termed today a "smoke-screen over the Ohio school problem" by the Ohio Association of Public School employes, claiming to represent 15,000 non-teaching school workers.

In a formal statement through executive Secretary A. L. Cochran of Cleveland Heights, the association asserted:

"The people of Ohio have a billion dollar investment in their school building and millions in their operation. All would be jeopardized if the bill were approved."

The proposal, as introduced in the legislature, would give no pay increases to non-teaching school employes, Cochran said, adding however, that the association endorsed the Daniels-Cramer school bill now being considered by the general assembly.

Cut in Income Tax Still Far From Reality, Marlow Shows

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, March 22 — Don't get excited yet: so far congress hasn't cut your 1947 income tax. Maybe you'll wind up without it.

This isn't meant to gloom anyone who thinks his taxes are a cinch to go down this year. Just wait and see.

But now you've heard mostly talk. The real action lies ahead. And there'll be more talk.

James Marlow

Neither house of congress has voted any tax cut yet. Before there'll there'll be a sturdy fight between Democrats and Republicans.

The reason for the cut will be explained later. The Democrats and Republicans are standing pretty solidly, one against the other.

In both houses the Republicans have a majority of the votes. But keep in mind: a majority, not two-thirds, of the votes.

Because they have a majority, the Republicans should be able to shove through both houses a bill to cut taxes.

Then, in order to become law, that bill will have to go to President Truman for his signature.

Since he's leader of the Democrats, and the Democrats are against a tax cut, Mr. Truman may try to kill such a bill by vetoing it.

A veto would kill it unless the house and senate, by a two-thirds vote, were able to pass it over the veto.

A total of Democrats then would have to join the Republicans, who have only a majority, to make up the two-thirds vote.

That seems unlikely. So, a tax-cut bill passed by congress may wind up in the ash can.

Until now the only positive action in congress has been taken by the house ways and means committee.

It's the committee's job to get into shape a tax-cut bill for the whole house to vote upon.

Yesterday that committee, dominated by Republicans, okayed a bill to cut taxes 30 per cent for small tax payers, 20 per cent for most others.

The full house is expected to vote on it and the Republicans are confident they can ram it through.

No one knows when the senate will get around to voting on such a bill.

Democrats Demand Changes

But Democrats in the senate have warned there'll be big changes in the kind of bill the house is expected to pass.

Why should the Republicans apparently want to cut taxes while the Democrats, led by Mr. Truman, don't?

One very good reason for the Republican desire to cut taxes is this:

In the campaign before last fall's elections, which put them in control of congress, the Republicans said they'd cut taxes if they won.

The Democrats are arguing this way against cutting taxes now:

1. With your international problems up in the air, the government doesn't know how much money it may need this year.

2. After government expenses are paid, any money left over from taxes should be used to pay off some of the national debt.

That public debt of about $260,000,000,000 is the money the government has borrowed to keep running, especially during the war.

The house probably will vote to reduce taxes by about $4,000,000,000. Democrats think that's money that could be used on the public debt.

You know from the way your own eyes follow the smart new Buicks on the road—

Wherever you go in this one, you're going to steal the show.

Wherever you travel, there goes tomorrow's car fashion—long, sweeping fender lines drawing glances as surely as the smartest new Paris creation.

Lift Ohio School Standards

GOVERNOR HERBERT has recommended a 33-1/3 percent increase in Ohio school aid—from 60 to 80 million dollars a year, beginning the second half of the current year.

Backers of the Daniels-Cramer bill in the General assembly have been asking for a large increase—from 60 to more than 90 million a year. A compromise is in order.

Backers of the bill, which aims to lift educational standards by giving Ohio a fighting chance to keep and to get school teachers, should recognize the governor's problem with the state budget. He has had the courage to offer them part of what they want, against the opposition of various taxpayers' lobbies now tearing him to pieces for such effrontery.

Ohio schools aren't going to get what they want or what they need. But if they play their cards right they can get more than they have, perhaps a third more. Meanwhile, if the assembly acts favorably on the governor's recommendation for an extra $60,000,000 for salary relief the first half of the current year, Ohio school teachers will have a better break than most of them expected when the legislature convened in January.

Opponents of any increase in the school subsidy are fearful it may be costing $100,000,000 a year by 1950. This kind of fearfulness is hard to share. Most Ohioans feel that the increasing cost of raising educational standards in this state is the easiest of all public burdens to bear. If it costs $100,000,00 by 1950 to give Ohio kids a better break, or even to give them as good a break as they're getting now, it still will be dirt-cheap.

In the meantime, municipalities and counties should be doing everything they can do to lift educational standards on their own initiative—from tightening up efficiency in the handling of money to tightening up the efficiency of teachers. Money can't do the whole job. But without more nearly adequate funds, none of the job can be done. Schoolteachers must be made worthy of their hire, not merely because they are such nice people but because we have to have them.

There is a tendency to forget in arguments about the cost of public education that it isn't just money involved, but the welfare of children and society. The salaries of schoolteachers and the burden of taxation are secondary. This is a matter of giving Ohio children the best education Ohioans can afford to give them. Today's generation in charge has enough to apologize for without adding penny-wisdom and pound-folly to the indictment standing against it.

Ohio is already down among the last baker's dozen of the 48 states in financial efforts for education. It hasn't been bankrupting itself by any means. The Daniels-Cramer bill should be trimmed down within striking distance of Governor Herbert's guess on probable income and enacted. There is nothing in the least sinister about an attempt to lift educational standards in Ohio. If there's anything sinister going on, it's someone's cynical assumption that nothing matters—education or anything else—as long as a tight lid can be kept on taxation.

Too Much Brass?

THE military character of American delegation to the Big Four conference, coupled with President Truman's foreign aid policy, has given Russians the idea American policy is dictated by the army—the United States Army, that is, not the Salvation Army which they think is also militaristic.

Russians point out that George C. Marshall, head of the American delegation, is a general; the American Ambassador, Bedell Smith, is a general, in addition to whom Gen Mark W. Clark, Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Maj. Gen. William H. Draper Jr. are now serving in various capacities at the conference. One Russian official said America "had enough brass at the conference to make a brass statue of a general."

Russia's factual observation can't be contradicted. It's true the military is unusually well represented at the conference. The assertion, "No, American foreign policy is not dictated by the army," will not satisfy the Russians. But, while reposing utmost confidence in the men who are representing them at Moscow, Americans will do well to repeat it at intervals to see if it rings true in the light of developments.

Greek Action Weakens UN

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Damage to Charter Difficult To Repair.

THE reason given by Undersecretary of State Acheson for the by-passing of United Nations is that there is an emergency in Greece and Turkey and that "the United Nations and its related organizations are not now in position to extend help of the kind that is required."

It is true that there is an emergency with which the UN is not now equipped to deal. It is true that the United States must deal with it. But these are not reasons for by-passing the UN.

They are reasons why it is our special duty and deeply to our interest to make it plain to the United Nations why in our judgment there is an emergency requiring us to act unilaterally. For the charter was adopted for the express purpose of preventing nations from acting unilaterally and on their own judgment in matters which affect the interests of other nations.

Precisely because we feel that the emergency is such that we must make an exception of this rule, we should be seeking the opportunity to recognize the moral authority of the UN lest the exceptional case establish a precedent which will then be the rule.

If the pattern of our conduct in this affair becomes a precedent, we shall have cut a hole in the charter which it will be very difficult to repair.

The President has told us, quite rightly, that "The seeds of totalitarian regimes are nurtured by misery and want. They spread and grow in the evil soil of poverty and strife." Suppose we cannot all around the world relieve quickly enough the misery and the want. Suppose that in Greece later, or in some other wrecked and hungry land, there comes into power by elections like those in Greece a government of the extreme Left, dominated by the Communists. That could happen. It could happen elsewhere in Europe, in Asia or even in an American republic.

Reverse Situation

What happens then if that government calls upon the Soviet Union for aid, asks it to equip and train its army, to supervise its budget, to plan and direct its economy?

What under the "Truman doctrine" do we do if the Soviet government says there is an emergency, that it has been invited to intervene, that the UN, is not in position to extend the kind of help required?

Until March 12, we would have been able to do what we did in Iran last year. We would have been able to raise the issue in the Security Council, and the General Assembly, and to demand an accounting, and to bring to bear upon the situation the collective opinion of the United Nations.

The UN was not any better equipped to act in Iran than it is in Greece. But it was equipped to bring great pressure to bear on the Soviet Union's desire to judge for itself whether there was an emergency which demanded unilateral action.

That is what the "Truman doctrine," as it is being presented to the world, will destroy if we persist in setting this precedent.

And it is so unnecessary. "Time is of the essence," said Acheson. But no time will be lost in extending to Greece and Turkey the assistance which almost all of us agree should be given if we choose to recognize the interest of the UN.

It would not take as long to conform to the principles of the charter of the United Nations as it will take to conform to the constitutional processes of the United States. If there is time for Acheson to inform congress, there is time for Austin to inform the United Nations.

But it is not only for the sake of the UN that we should avoid this shattering precedent. It is also for the sake of our own action in Greece.

Official Picture

The official picture of what we are getting into in Greece has been softened and simplified. The emphases has been put on the need of the Greeks, the dire results of not helping them and the benevolent and innocuous character of our assistance.

This picture needs to be supplemented by a full realization that we are intervening in a civil war; that we shall be responsible for the Greek army, not only its training and equipment, but its strategy and tactics; that, since our financial assistance is measured to balance the Greek budget, we shall become responsible for the whole operation of the Greek government.

Now the government of Greece has been a European problem ever since the country was liberated from Turkey in 1829 by the combined intervention of Britain France, and Russia. Never for long has Greece not been an international problem, and while we may be able to succeed where so many others have failed, it is, I believe, extremely unwise on our part to accept the sole responsibility. The British government, which has dealt with Greek affairs for over a century, has failed and has suffered great moral injury.

If we are wise, we shall seek to spread the moral risk, not to assume the whole of it as we are now doing. We shall proceed by consultation with those of our allies who share our purposes, and by a scrupulous adherence to the rules we have made with those of our allies who may not share our purposes.

For if we cannot get the agreement of the Russians to what we propose to do, we can still do it, using our own veto to block any attempt on their part to block it. But in seeking agreement, and practicing consultation, we shall not be taking a position which, because it is unilateral, combines the worst feature of isolationism and of interventionism.

A Good Trick If Happy Can Do It

Film star Laraine Day is enroute to Havana to join Leo Durocher.

Durocher will be remembered as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Miss Day's husband except in California.

The Dodgers are doing their spring training in Cuba, where Durocher is a great favorite among the natives, who like loud colors and baseball managers.

And The Lip, whatever else he may be, is loud. That's why it wasn't as quiet as President Truman had expected in Key West.

In addition to his continuing difficulties with that California judge, Durocher has lately become involved in a dispute with his ex-boss, Larry MacPhail, whom he has accused of everything except watering the pop sold in Yankee Stadium.

MacPhail, in turn, has called upon Baseball Czar Happy Chandler to "silence" Durocher, this being the toughest assignment since Pelias sent Jason for the golden fleece.

Leo Durocher and LaRaine Day are reported enroute to Havana to spend their honeymoon.

"A few weeks as middleman in a Durocher-MacPhail feud and Chandler will be called Happy for the same reason citizens over six-foot-five are inevitably nicknamed Shorty."

Prospects for Labor Law

By RAYMOND MOLEY

PROSPECTS for good labor legislation are none too bright. It was assumed last November that the people had voted for checks on the power of unions. Republicans so interpreted their victory. But the winter is past, and nothing has happened. Senate and house committees are still struggling for a common program. And the threat of a presidential veto casts a long shadow.

Union leaders have offered no help. They are standing pat, with the threat of political reprisals next year as their weapon. Presidential aspirations are prolific in the senate. Some junior senators are off the party reservation already.

Two of these junior senators, Morse of Oregon and Ives of New York, have offered their own proposals. The mildness of their remedies has been greeted with satisfaction in labor quarters. It seems to be assumed that their suggestions mean that Taft cannot summon a majority in the senate labor committee behind the stiffer ideas of Ball and others.

Tone of Measures

Both Ives and Morse would free employers from present restrictions on their right to speak to employes and to appeal to the NLRB. In short, they offer a measure of free speech. Both senators would define several forms of unfair practice on the part of labor. Both would outlaw certain types of jurisdictional strike. Both would retain most of the powers of the board, and Morse would enlarge its membership.

Ives would require financial statements from unions to be submitted to the board. He would permit employers to refuse to bargain on the closed shop issue and would permit employers to petition the board for an election.

Morse would permit the board to appeal to the courts for injunctive means to carry out its orders.

The general impression arising from the proposals of the two senators is their excessive tenderness toward the board. An employer may petition the board. This is an admission of how utterly one-sided the Wagner Act has been since the beginning. An agency of the sovereign government, supported by tax money, is and has been above even the simple right of a citizen's petition. The Declaration of Independence forestalled Ives by some years. The right of petition was basic before the Wagner Act.

The senators seem to overlook the fact that in practically every moment in its history the board has been as much at fault as the law. It has generally been utterly biased. It has had the confidence of only one side of controversies. Are we now to assume that this board will become the perfect gentle embodiment of justice?

What of the right of citizens to appeal from the board to the courts? This needs more definition by congress. But the senators' proposals do not even consider that right.

Agree on Palestine Issue

By STEWART ALSOP

BAGDAD, March 22 — There is one issue on which both the William Z. Fosters and Colonel Robert R McCormicks of Iraq agree. That is the Palestine issue. Arabs of every shade of political opinion, from conservative pro-British Foreign Minister Jamali to Aziz Sharif, leader of the Leftist pro-Soviet Peoples' Party, unite in expressing violent, bitter, and apparently deeply felt opposition to the creation of a Jewish controlled state in Palestine. According to those who ought to know, this intransigent opposition is duplicated in every one of the Arab states. Whatever one's private sympathy for the Zionist ideal, that is an element in the Middle Eastern situation which it would be plainly foolish to disregard.

Aside from bad plumbing and bugs, one of the most disagreeable aspects of the journalistic junket in this part of the world, is that it tends to obscure the merits of those easy and generous solutions to the Middle Eastern problem which present themselves so cogently at a comfortable distance. Take, for example, the "Iraqi solution" of the Palestine problem, an idea with which so oddly assorted a pair as Senator Claude Pepper and former President Herbert Hoover, are said to have flirted.

There's a lovely mathematical neatness about this idea. A comparatively small investment in irrigation projects would make it possible to double or treble the arable land area of Iraq. But, there are not enough Iraqi to farm this extra land. Therefore, let the 1,250,000 Palestine Arabs be transferred to Iraq. This would solve Iraq's population difficulties and, at the same time, free Palestine for unlimited Jewish immigration.

One Disadvantage

This neat solution has only one disadvantage, according to competent observers here. First, it would be necessary to herd the Palestine Arabs into Iraq at the point of innumerable guns, and then it would be necessary to deal with the Arab revolts throughout the Middle East which would surely ensue.

Or take that phrase, to which all men of good will are so addicted when considering American foreign policy in this area. That American policy must be devoted to "supporting the progressive democratic forces." These words are usually accompanied by a side-crack at the reactionary British, and they are nicely calculated to swell the American breast with conscious pride.

But as one irritable American here has asked, "What the hell do they mean?"

What do they mean in Turkey, where the nearest thing to a democratic progressive force is a political party firmly devoted to the economic tenets of Adam Smith? What do they mean in Greece where the progressive democratic forces are represented by an aged character with rheumy eyes called Sophoulis, whose popular support is daily melting away to left or right? What do they mean in Iran, where the progressive democratic forces are presumably in the Tudeh Party, whose leaders reported regularly to the Soviet Embassy? What do the words mean in Iraq, where the progressive democratic forces are, for all practical purposes, non-existent? What in cold fact is the real meaning of the word democracy in terms of the disease-ridden, devastatingly poor, overwhelmingly illiterate populations of this area? Or does the progressive democratic force, in fact, mean the Communist party, instrument of a ruthless imperialism? Is progressive democracy now to be interpreted in terms of political massacres and the suppression of civil rights?

Need More Than Slogans

It is becoming increasingly clear that American policy in this vital area can not be conducted by means of slogans, however pleasing to the American ear. What is needed is a clear-headed, unemotional assessment of the real American interest in terms of the actual situation. For six weeks, this reporter has been asking the most experienced American observers for such assessments. What follows is an attempt briefly to synchronize their replies.

First, it is flatly impossible to disregard the fact that a world-wide contest, of which the United States and the Soviet Union are the chief protagonists, is now in progress. The obvious ambition of the Soviet Union to expand south makes this whole area one of the focal points of this contest.

Second, despite the loud cries of the British pro-Soviet left, the inescapable economic and geographical facts make the British an American ally in this contest, and since they are a valuable ally, it is evidently to the American interest that they remain a strong ally. Yet both political and economic pressures in England are forcing the British drastically to reduce their commitments in this area. Unless the Americans fill the resulting power vacuum, the Soviets will surely do so.

Baseball and Symphony Orchestras

BASEBALL is to be linked with music. This season you may read of an interlocking system through which a fast man with the cowbell in a symphony orchestra has been shifted to third base, replacing a ballplayer who will fit better between the kettledrums and the cellists.

Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees has signed a 26-weeks contract to put a symphony orchestra on the air daily under the sponsorship of the ball club.

* * *

Thus will the name MacPhail be tied in with Mozart and Strauss, the Yanks brought close to the arts and the home run swing linked with the down beat.

* * *

If music hath charms to sooth the savage breast, perhaps the idea is wholly defensive in anticipation of a bad year on the diamond.

* * *

A fan may find some satisfaction, when the team blows a game, to know that the ball club delivered an errorless musical afternoon and is still away out ahead of the league by four bull fiddlers.

* * *

What if the team uses five pitchers and loses ten to nothing? It can come through with "Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Selections Mikado" can't it?

* * *

Even if a club finishes last in a baseball league and first in the musical work, the season will not be one calling for pop bottles.

* * *

Mr MacPhail insists he is sponsoring lovely music merely as a step in cultivating good will, advertising the team and helping to popularize baseball at home. Maybe it is aimed at the women folk. After an afternoon of Brahms and Victor Herbert, a wife will feel less inclined to hurl pots and pans at the old man when he gets home late to dinner and admits he was at a ball game.

* * *

"What a life!" we may hear him taunting. "Me out in the hot sun at a lousy ball game and you sitting all afternoon in the middle of a nice cool symphony orchestra!"

* * *

We see the possibility of a day when MacPhail will have a Yankee orchestra playing other orchestras. With a farm system to discover and develop promising musicians. Maybe even a symphonic world series.

* * *

Comforting thought. Joe DiMaggio may not be so hot this season, but there's always Jerome Kern, Irving Berlin and the old masters.

Stand by, ladies and gentlemen! This is the third inning with Beethoven on third and Chopin up! Immediately after the next play we will give you the official line-up for "Afternoon of a Faun."

If there is a telephone strike will we be crossing a picket line if we try to communicate by smoke signal?

A Tomcat's Diary

By TRUMAN TWILL

MIAMI, FLA

OLD Face-and-a-Half will have a flea in his ear when he learns I have come south to meet the sun. This is my first trip to Florida and was what you might call accidental. I hardly know how it happened, except that I and the little lady I had been going around with up north were out for a romp and the first thing I knew I was in Florida. The little lady pulled up somewhere in Georgia, I guess I never missed her till I saw a sign that said Jacksonville. Anyway, here I am in Florida and probably not the first tomcat that got here on a romp.

I am keeping my eyes open. After stopping in Jacksonville for a good rest and a dish of cream, I started south and never have I seen so many long-haired cats, all worshipping the sun. This is sure some place and will continue to be as long as the suckers up north make plenty of money. It is practically impossible down here to get anything but cream and that is bad for a cat with my problem. My problem is to keep my tail from getting fat. All my ancestors had exceptionally fat tails, and having a fat tail in a streamlined age is no fun.

The big thing down here is that no one has anything to do, except lap up cream and soak up sunshine, or whatever is handy. On rainy days I suppose more snake-bite serum is consumed in Florida than any place on earth. I wouldn't be surprised if the snakes down here—and they have 'em!—were afraid to bite tourists for fear there might be a backlash and the snakes would get knocked out. As I say this is quite a place and I am only sorry I have wasted so much time romping under less favorable circumstances. There are no hills here and plenty of sand.

Life is not grim and earnest, the way it is back home. It is soft and beautiful, and endless panorama of fresh fish, as we cats say. Everybody is here for the same reason—to take it easy. All except the natives, who are happier than anybody. They don't have to pick money off trees, the way old man Twill used to scream he couldn't do. They pick it off tourists, which is easier. You don't have to climb a ladder to pick money off tourists. They hand it over without a struggle. It's like calling on Jesse James in his living room to give him your bankroll. At least that's how it looks to me, a tomcat inexperienced in financial matters but learning more about all other matters day by day. Eeeyow! I always put in an Eeeyow to save Twill the trouble when he reprints these pages from my diary. It is his notion of what a tomcat should say, although I never heard one who did.

Lure for Teachers

By The Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY — Oklahoma City school officials are conducting "rush parties" in an effort to get new teachers.

Instead of following the accepted practice of giving sales talks to future instructors at state teacher training colleges, Oklahoma City officials invite education majors to the city.

The officials entertain them and point out the advantages of teaching in Oklahoma City.

The Offense of the Cross

A Sermonette

By REV. ELDRED JOHNSTON
Pastor of Central Christian Church

Text: "We preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumblingblock, and unto the Greeks foolishness." I Cor. 1:23.

This is the fifth in a series of Lenten season sermonettes on the general theme, "In the Christ of the Cross We Glory."

WE are used to hearing: "In the Cross of Christ I glory," or, "We glory in the Christ of the Cross." Many wear the Cross in their lapels as an emblem of glory and victory. However, in the First Century there were many to whom the Cross was an offense. Paul said the Cross was to them a stumbling block and foolishness. Let us see what he meant by that, and then let us ask if there are any people in this modern world to whom the Cross is an offense.

The popular religion of Palestine in the first century was Judaism—a religion based on the commandments handed down by Moses, but later expanded into a complicated and voluminous code of legalistic precepts. There were laws and rules regulating every phase of life from items on the daily menu to the distance one could walk on the Sabbath. The Pharisees who controlled the system held the whip of divine sanction over the people. The people were led to believe that if they meticulously carried out every detail of the code, they would earn salvation, otherwise they would earn damnation.

As a result of this legalistic, pedantic religion a spirit of futility and frustration grew up among the masses. For one thing, it was practically impossible for the average workingman to do his day's work and carry out all the details of the code as well—he just didn't have time for both of them, and since he had to earn his daily bread, his work took precedence over his religious duties with a resultant fear and guilt. For another thing, a sense of hypocrisy grew up in the few souls of spiritually mature persons. They realized that even though their outer actions were ceremonially correct, their inner attitudes were often morally wrong. These same spiritually mature people saw also how the legalistic principle was blinding the majority to the blackness of sin, and the human weakness for sin. Consequently, the vast majority of people were either distraught or cynical toward religion.

In the religious aristocracy — the pharisees and the priests—we can see a normal psychological reaction. Aware of this spirit among the masses, and aware of the hypocritical nature of their legalism, and aware of the fear and respect of the people toward divine sanction, they increased in their dogmatism, their pride, their despotism.

Now into the picture comes the Cross — with Paul of Tarsus, a Pharisee of the Pharisees, exalting it, and proclaiming it as symbolizing the end of the reign of legalism and the birth of a new covenant with God! Offended? The Pharisees were blind with anger because they realized that if this principle were accepted their entire system would collapse.

What was this principle of the Cross which the Pharisees found so offensive? It was, as Paul proclaimed, that man is justified by grace through faith. Human effort of itself is not adequate to conquer sin and effect an atonement with God. Through the crucifixion Sin is conquered and an adequate atonement is provided in the person of Jesus Christ, the Son of God and the Son of Man. Any man, Jew or Gentile, who has the humility and the faith to accept this atonement, may receive it, and thus become reconciled to God. Man has not earned this justification, it has come to him by the love and grace of a heavenly Father.

Is the offense of the Cross confined to the first century, or are there those today who also feel this offense?

There are many today who feel the offense of the Cross. There are those who would substitute [illegible] day school or read their Bible or make religious pilgrimages or feed the tramp that comes to the door. Thirdly, there are those who completely ignore the church. They boast that they are good citizens, that they do not steal, nor commit murder nor fornication. To them, religion is reserved for times of critical illness or death-bed scenes. They feel no sense of sin—no need for atonement. They match their external daily actions with those of church-members and come to the conclusion that the church-members suffer by the comparison.

To thousands today the Cross is an offense. To them the word of Paul must be declared anew: "For the Jews require a sign, and the Greeks seek after wisdom; But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumblingblock, and unto the Greeks foolishness; But unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God."

The Final Curtain
The final curtain on the drama of life often drops without warning. It is prudent to choose one's final resting place and thus be prepared for the emergency. Choose it in Marion Cemetery for utmost assurance of beauty and stability.
Family burial lots are available at a very modest cost and terms to suit your convenience.

Why Not Face the Facts
After all, this is a practical age, and we are a practical people. Why should we shun something that is inevitable?
There should be no sentimentalism about arranging for funerals in advance. In itself, it is a business procedure, and the many people who have come to us concerning this feature, have taken that attitude.
Consider its advantage—how it immeasurably relieves the responsibility placed upon those who are left behind, and how it avoids dissatisfaction in any way.

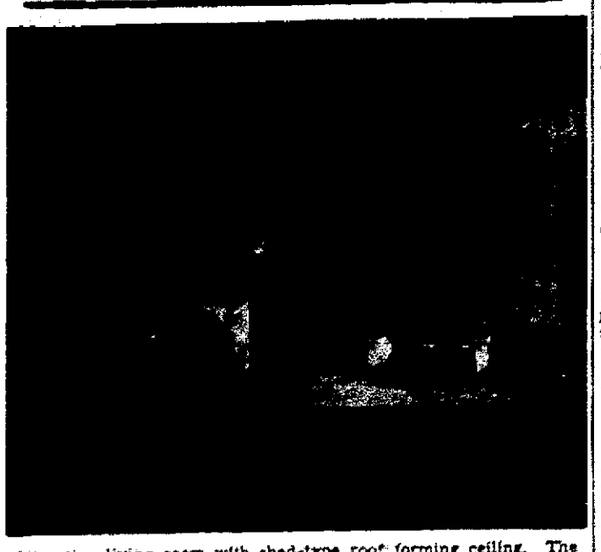
Homes in Low Cost Class Also Can Have Attractive Living Rooms

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood



Attractive living room with shed-type roof forming ceiling. The side walls are of wall board; the entire wall surrounding the fireplace of heavily grained welditex plywood.

THE modest and attractive living room illustrated, is an excellent example of what can be accomplished with the interiors of low cost homes. There are but a few functional pieces of furniture and ornaments are scarce, yet the general effect is one of comfort combined with good taste. Careful study of the possibilities of this room have resulted in a treatment which is entirely in harmony with the severely plain economical construction.

The shed-type roof used allows the supporting structural members to be exposed and present a far more interesting ceiling than a flat surface. It may be painted to match the front and rear walls of the room or the beams may be done in a contrasting color. The wall board used to finish two of the walls is fastened directly to the frame and makes no attempt to hide the joints; but the builder has proportioned the panels so they are asymmetrical.

Fireplace Provided

The end of the room leaves very little to be desired. The fireplace is large and simple; built of common brick it is topped off with a row-lock course, has no mantel, and is appropriately plain. The entire wall surrounding the fireplace is sheathed with heavily grained welditex plywood, used with the grain running both horizontally and vertically, and giving the room an appearance of great size in width and height.

The floor of the room can be either the concrete slab upon which the house is built, stained and waxed, or covered with wood strip flooring. The owner's choice in this respect would probably depend upon the climate in which the house was built.

Another interesting feature of this room is the lighting. The large triple full-height window floods the room with natural light and furnishes a decorative feature as well. There are no ceiling or wall lighting fixtures; all artificial lighting is taken care of by two large strategically placed floor lamps.

Gain In Popularity

Houses of this type are rapidly becoming popular throughout the country, and a great amount of effort is being put forth by the building industry to perfect the details of both construction and finish. At the same time the manufacturers of furniture are offering both built-in and portable furniture which is appropriate to this type of house, so that the prospective home builder with a minimum amount of financial resource can build and furnish with economy and good taste.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Bread Box Discolored

Q: I have a bread box which is a drawer in a standard kitchen base. I have had it for seven years. Recently the inside has become brown and rust-like. How can I remedy this?

A: The metal may have become rusty from the action of the moisture in the bread. I do not advise the use of paint where it will be in contact with food. You might try brightening the metal by rubbing with sandpaper, wipe off the dust, and then wipe again with a clean cloth dampened with a non-smelling oil, such as mineral oil. If you have space enough in your refrigerator you would find it a much better place to keep the bread than the box that you are now using. A nearby plating shop may be able to tin-plate the box again.

Finish To Show Grain of Wood

Q: My dinette set is oyster shell white with the grain showing through. I would like to remove the paint and put on another color. How could I remove the old paint and refinish with another color to let the grain show?

A: If the furniture is not too near the kitchen so there would be no fire hazard, you could remove the old finish with varnish remover (inflammable). This remover will soften the finish so that you can scrape and wipe it off. Follow by thorough cleaning off with turpentine to take off every trace of the remover; otherwise your new finish will fail. An alternative method would be to take off the old finish with sandpaper. Dust off and put on a liberal coat of paste wood filler, tinted with color-in-oil of the color your prefer. The filler should be thinned with turpentine to the consistency of thick cream. After about fifteen minutes wipe off lightly across the grain with a coarse cloth or excelsior and let the wood dry for 24 hours. Smooth with finest sandpaper and dust off. Finish with clear varnish.

OFFICIALS MEET AT PROSPECT

Township Trustees and Clerks Indorse Plan for County Road Patrolman.

The Marion County Township Trustees and Clerks association, at its first quarterly meeting Friday night in Prospect school, approved a motion recommending to the commissioners immediate consideration authorizing the appointment of a county road patrolman.

The motion was passed following discussion regarding the inefficiency of law enforcement to prevent garbage and rubbish from being along county roads, as well as to protect county road signs.

The meeting was sponsored by the trustees of Marion, Green Camp, Pleasant, Waldo and Prospect townships. A supper was served at 7:30 by the Willing Workers class of the Prospect Methodist church to approximately 95 officials, their wives and guests.

Entertainment consisted of piano duets by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rice of Waldo township and several solos by Mr. Rice, accompanied by Mrs. Rice. Harold Compton of the internal revenue department, former music instructor in the city and county schools, also sang several songs.

Elmer A. Williams of Grand Prairie township, president of the association, presided over the business session.

Joe R. Thomas of Hayesville, state president of township officials, was guest speaker. He gave a resume of current legislation pending in the state legislature in Columbus. He pointed out that the state administration, though seeking the largest appropriation of funds in history, had cut $300,000 from township road appropriation from previous years. He also stated that patronage takes up so much of the time of an incoming governor that he must delegate much of the vital public benefit authority to subordinates who "sometimes fumble."

Next meeting of the association will be sponsored by Tully, Scott, Grand Prairie, Claridon and Richland townships.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Mouth Disorders

In our enthusiasm for vitamins and their role in overcoming deficiency disenses, we are sometimes likely to forget that other elements, some of them familiar to our grandfathers as remedies, also play an important part in keeping the body in a healthy state.

For instance, during recent years it was recognized that certain conditions affecting the mouth were due to a lack of some of the vitamins which go to make up the B-complex. Changes in the little swellings on the tongue, called papillae indicated a lack of niacin as did inflammation of the mouth while cracks at the angles of the mouth meant to most doctors that the patient was not getting enough riboflavin or B-2.

Now Dr. William J. Darby of Nashville, reminds us that all these things may also be the result of deficiency of iron. One patient he treated had pain and burning in the stomach and chest after meals. Her mouth was constantly sore. She was treated with niacih, a part of the vitamin B-complex, but did not improve. Later on burning of the tongue developed. Even a mixture of B-complex vitamins failed to give relief. Tests which were carried out showed that she was suffering from an iron deficiency. A mixture of an iron-containing preparation with vitamin B-complex was started and within a week her mouth was well. The administration of the iron was continued and a complete cure resulted.

Dr. Darby treated six patients who had cracking at the angles of the mouth and inflammation of the lining membrane of the mouth. Some of these patients improved greatly with the administration of an iron preparation alone. Others improved with the iron after they had failed to be benefited by various B-complex vitamins.

Dr. Darby therefore concludes that iron deficiency alone is a common cause of these mouth disorders. Sometimes the mouth condition may be accompanied by poor appetite, lack of acid in the stomach, enlargement of the spleen in the left upper part of abdomen and a lessening of the coloring in the blood.

When patients have these mouth disorders a careful study should be made including a determination of the amount of coloring in the blood. There is also a test which can be made which entails the giving of iron which has been made radioactive by electrical treatments. If a person absorbs or takes up more than 5 per cent of the dose of radioactive iron which is given by mouth, it mean that he is suffering from an iron deficiency. If an iron deficiency is present the physician will prescribe the proper iron preparation to overcome the difficulty.

Lt S D Angenstein, commanding officer of District A, including Marion county, said young men of the district who are interested in the highway patrol as a career can obtain application blanks and complete information about the selection, training and duties of highway patrolmen from the officers at patrol posts located in Marion, Findlay, Perrysburg, Bellevue Bellefontaine, Defiance, Lima and Van Wert

Enrollment in the patrol is limited to applicants who successfully pass rigid tests of intelligence, aptitude and physical condition and whose character is above reproach Applicants must be between 21 and 35 years old, citizens of the United States residents of Ohio for five years, at least 165 pounds in weight and five feet eight inches in height and have completed high school or have the equivalent in other schooling or training

He said veterans of World War II will receive preference through civil service regulations which allow them 20 per cent additional, added to a passing grade, in the civil service examination to be held later

MOLOTOV

ing to present Soviet views.

(The Moscow radio said Molotov proposed the establishment of a provisional German government with the same degree of decentralization which existed before the establishment of the Hitler regime" Conference observers generally had expected the Russians to demand formation of a strong central government, as contrasted with the wishes of the western powers for less centralization of authority.)

Authoritative sources said Bidault would present to the council a governmental plan for Germany envisaging a loose federation of states with a single house of parliament.

These informants said members of the unicameral parliament would be named by state legislatures for terms of four years, under the French plan, which is at wide variance with the proposals put forward for Germany's future by Secretary of State George C. Marshall and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin yesterday.

It was understood that Bidault was maintaining his position on extreme federalization for Germany despite Prime Minister Stalin's reported opposition, which is believed to have been communicated to the French foreign minister in an interview last Monday night.

Bidault is scheduled to present this French view as the first speaker at this afternoon's council session.

20 Hurt Slightly As Crack Train Derails

By The Associated Press

CAMDEN, S. C., March 22—The Seaboard Airline railway's Miami-to-New York Sun Queen was derailed at Cassatt near here early today causing injuries to about 20 persons. Only two of the injured required hospitalization, however, and the others continued on their way after first aid treatment.

Engineer J. H. Johnson of Raleigh, N. C., was brought to Camden hospital, suffering injuries of the head, arms and hands. The name of the other hospitalized victim was not immediately available

Seaboard employes said the train ran through an open switch at Cassatt, 14 miles northeast of here, about 3 30 a. m. Three diesel engine units and seven cars jumped the track, which was torn up for a distance of several hundred feet.

COAL NEGOTIATIONS EXPECTED TO BEGIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 22—Officials in touch with the soft coal dispute said today there may be a government call within the next week for John L Lewis and the mine owners to start negotiating for a new contract.

Before it comes, they told a reporter, two legal moves remain

1. Lewis to "purge" himself and the United Mine Workers of contempt of the federal district court here by showing that he has called off his notice terminating their contract with the government as operator of the seized mines

This will include paying his own fine of $10,000 and one of $700,000 against the union The supreme court, in upholding district Judge T Alan Goldsborough's contempt finding lopped $2,800 000 off a $3 500 000 fine against the UMW Collateral for both fines was posted with the district court in the form of government bonds.

2 The justice department to decide whether it wants a final judgment on the basic issue of the court fight, which was whether Lewis had the right to reopen his contract with the government on 30 days notice

The government contends the contract holds good as long as the government holds the mines But authority to continue the seizure expires June 30 under present law and officials say the justice department may not insist on a court ruling

Timing of the government invitation to Lewis and the operators to start up contract negotiations this depends largely on how soon the legal formalities on Lewis' fine can be disposed of Government lawyers expect him to act quickly

INDIVIDUAL STOCKS CONTINUE UPWARD

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 22—Individual stocks continued to make some further headway in today's market although quick profit casning by professional traders on the week's rally restrained many leaders.

Dealings were slow from the start of the short session Early advances of fractions to a point or so failed to hold in most cases and the direction was somewhat foggy near the close Small fractional variations either way predominated Trasfers for the two hours ran to around 400,000 snares

Resistant issues included U S Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Montgomery Ward, J I Case, Eastern Air Lines TWA, Pennsylvania-Central Airlines, American Smelting, Johns-Manville, Air Reduction, U S Gypsum, Eastman Kodak and Great Northern Railway.

Backward were N Y Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Pacific, American Telephone American Can, General Motors Goodyear, American Water Works and General Electric

Marriage Saved

In "The Perfect Marriage," Loretta Young and David Niven, a supposedly perfect married couple, begin bickering over trifles during the celebration of their tenth wedding anniversary. The story goes on to tell of the widening of the rift to a point where divorce is in the offing, and then to the methods by which their differences are resolved and the marriage saved.

"Beat the Band," a musical comedy, concerns the misadventures of a young band leader when he tries to get his band going again after the war. His father and his manager have gambled away the money he left behind to keep the band together, and though the manager has booked the band into a swank hotel, it doesn't look as though they will open.

Middletown vs. East Liverpool, Columbiana vs. New Knoxville in Finals

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 22 — Middletown vs. East Liverpool at Columbiana's class A, and Columbiana vs. New Knoxville in class B—make the title game menu for today in Ohio's high school basketball championship tournament.

And the windup of the scholastic boy cage classic seems as one of the most colorful in the event's 25-year history, with eighth fabled adding more than usual interest.

Middletown, defending champion, will be after its third title in four years, and its 31st tournament victory in 32 starts. On the other hand East Liverpool, which dumped Findlay's Trojans 30-22 last night with a sharpshooting spree in the last 10 seconds of the finals for the first time in the old mark of 72 when these same Clippers set two years ago against Yorkville.

Featured a well-rounded offense (five players registered double figure wins against Corning) Columbiana is given the edge over New Knoxville despite the presence of Jack Kuck on the Anglaize county crew. Kuck, 15-year-old six-foot four-inch sophomore, pumped 31 points through the hoop Thursday in the semi-finals 51-45 victory over Phillipsburg—just two points away from the tournament's all-time high.

Attendance Record Likely

A new attendance record for the big basketball carnage also may go into the books. The first four sessions have attracted 18,000 fans, with the two title games expected to draw near-capacity houses. Last year's tournament was the class A meet at Toledo and the class B event at Springfield was 19,276. The year before the total was 18,431, in 1944 it was 19,000, and the 1943 figure was 9,300.

Inability to cash free throws cost Findlay a ticket to the championship game, the Trojans making only eight of 18 while the Potters connected on 11 of 17. Each of the two Columbiana county teams made four or five errors in the remaining of a record.

Corning was a one-point lead at the start on Jack Harrison's free throw but from then on the Railroaders weren't in the game. The unbeaten Clippers led 17-11 at the quarter and 33-14 at the half, the final spot of the session being a field goal half the length of the 26 attempts.

Corning's Jerry Jones, who counted more than 700 points in 27 games this season, tied Columbiana's Wayne Urschler at 11 points for the scoring honors.

The class B finals game is scheduled at 2:30 p. m., with the class A clash at 8 p. m. Columbiana has won 24 of 25 games, and New Knoxville has won 25 of 27. Middletown's defending kings have the poorest record of the four, 18 wins in 24 games, against East Liverpool's mark of 23 victories in 26 attempts.

Findlay, after missing a score of close-in shots in the early going, was behind 12-24 midway through the third quarter but started hitting and held the Potters to a single free throw while running up 14 points for a 27-25 lead in the final session. The score was tied three times in the closing minutes, but with 17 seconds to go little Jerry Hyder sat for a field goal and a charity toss to sweep East Liverpool into the playoff tilt against the Middies.

County Teams Duplicate

The Potters held the Trojans to three free throws in the second period, and oddly enough, Columbiana did the same thing in the same period for Corning—give the

Griffith Sees No Pennant For Washington but Vows Battle

By FRANK ECK
Associated Press Sports Editor

ORLANDO, Fla.—Clark C. Griffith, baseball's Old Gray Fox still is active at 77. Sixty years of baseball have failed to dull the enthusiasm of the Washington Senators' president. He doesn't predict a pennant for his team this season but he will be very disappointed if the Nationals aren't in there battling at the finish.

"We were second behind the Red Sox in batting last year," says ol' Griff, "and our pitching was off. It's going to be much better this season. I won't be satisfied unless we fight for the pennant.

Wynn Pitched Well

"We'll give every team a battle if the pitchers come through as I believe they will. Early Wynn pitched good ball last season after he returned from the Army. He won 18 games for us in '42. But the others—Rae Scarborough, Milo Candini, Sid Hudson and Walter Masterson—were off. Add Bobo Newsom and Mickey Haefner to that list and you have the makings of a fine hurling staff.

"The Red Sox figure to repeat but Joe Cronin (Griff's son-in-law) will have a tough time before the season is over. New York will be a good club and so will Detroit. Cleveland is the most improved team in the league with Joe Gordon on second and Bill McKeennie helping Manager Lou Boudreau run the Indians."

Manager Ossie Bluege, who is starting his fifth season at the helm, agreed with nearly everything said by his boss.

But Bluege doesn't like the 32 home night games the Senators will play. Griffith, however, would like to play even more are said.

"Washington is a southern city," said Griff, "and I'd like to play all night ball from mid-May on except Saturday and Sunday. The weather is just right."

Thanks to night ball and a fourth place finish last year, the Nats drew their top attendance of 1,027,216—fifth best figure in the American league in 1946.

Griffith, who began his diamond career with the Wilmington, Del., Reds in 1887 as the only AL club owner who opposed Larry MacPhail's bid for a 168-game schedule. He also disagrees with Larry's present pension plan setup, believes it's a player's own fault if he doesn't save his money and that the plan is geared "for a chosen few."

Baumholtz's Stock As Red Fielder Goes Up

By The Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla., March 22—Frankie Baumholtz's stock as potential center fielder for the Cincinnati Reds was up several more points today.

The Reds got only five singles as they dropped a 3-0 exhibition contest to the New York Yankees here yesterday but Bill Bevan and Marius Russo, who shared mound duties for the Gothamites, had considerable difficulty throwing 'em past Frankie.

Up four times he slashed out three singles—to left field in the fourth and eight inning and through the box in the sixth frame.

Baumholtz, the ex-Ohio university basketball star who played pro basketball last winter with the Cleveland Rebels, has already been tagged by Manager Johnny Neun as his "No. 1 center field candidate."

CLARIDON, STONE'S FEED WIN Y TILTS

Claridon Ex-Hi, Stone's Grill and McMillen Feeds turned in wins in the Y. M. C. A.'s double elimination tournament last night and all three teams will put their hopes on the block again tonight.

Claridon took Carroll's Jewelers 40 to 27 in a game that stayed close all the way. Carroll's was knocked out of the meets and tonight at 8 Claridon meets Universal Cooler.

Stone's Grill and Kirkpatrick mixed rough action with basketball as Stone's came from behind in the third quarter to win 35 to 25.

McMillen Feeds, which last year won the Y championship, turned in an impressive 45 to 27 victory over Houpt Memorial.

Tonight the Feed squad plays Stone's at 9 in another game which will see the loser eliminated.

Teachers Cautioned Against Organizing

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 22—School teachers should not form unions or affiliate with labor organizations if they "value the future of their profession and country," says Dr. Willard E. Givens of Washington, executive secretary of the National Education association.

Addressing the annual banquet of the Cleveland Teachers association, Dr. Givens last night asked whether teachers should take such organizational action, and then answered his question by declaring:

"Emphatically no—if teachers value the future of their profession and country. Teachers' unions are born of desperation and thrive on catastrophe. As conditions improve, they will diminish as they did after World War I."

The N. E. A. official asserted public school instructors should not "take sides" in capital-labor disputes.

Tribe Shows Banjo Hitting, Spotty Pitching is Still Jinx.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, March 22—Banjo hitting and spotty pitching—the double-barreled jinx which dropped the Cleveland Indians to sixth place in the American league last year—loomed today as a resurgent threat to the Tribe's aims for a first division spot.

As Tribal executives continued their search for a hitting outfielder and another front line hurler to aid fireball Bob Feller, the punchless Redskins absorbed their 10th loss in 14 exhibition starts, 2 to 1 at the hands of the Chicago White Sox at Sacramento yesterday.

Limited to seven singles by veterans Johnny Rigney and Thornton (Lefty) Lee and rookie Pete Gebrian, the Indians were held to their second run in 18 innings against the Chisox.

RECORDS EXPECTED TO FALL AT PURDUE

Illinois Favored To Win in Annual Relays.

By The Associated Press

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 22—A wholesale turnover of records and team champions was in prospect today as the fifth annual Purdue relays began with 443 athletes from 31 colleges and universities competing.

Illinois, Western conference and NCAA title holder, represented by a squad of 26 performers was favored to win the university team championship which Michigan has monopolized for three years. Preliminaries were scheduled this afternoon and the finals tonight.

Miami of Ohio was ready to defend the college division team title for the fifth time but was seriously challenged by Morningside, Normal, Baldwin-Wallace and Wheaton, Ill., college.

Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace, defending champion in both the high and low hurdles and record holder in the lows, was expected to draw his toughest opposition from George Walker of Illinois, Big Nine champion in the lows, and Bill Porter of Northwestern in the highs.

One of the meet's likely highlights will be the mile relay in the university division with Ohio State, Big Nine champion with a mark of 3:18.9, and Illinois, Illinois Tech winner in 3:18.8, duelling for the title as well as a new record. The current mark was set by Purdue in 3:22 flat.

FORD CUTS PRICE IN CANADIAN DIVISION

By The Associated Press

WINDSOR, ONT., March 22—The Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, announced yesterday that $35 reduction in the retail delivered prices of all Ford, Monarch and Mercury passenger cars and trucks will become effective throughout Canada Saturday morning.

The announcement was made by Douglas B. Grieg, president of Ford of Canada.

"When the wartime prices and trade board authorized a general increase in car and truck prices last December," he said, "we published a pledge that the moment conditions warranted, Ford of Canada would lower prices.

"Today's across-the-board reduction is the first step in fulfilling that promise.

"Although the company suffered a loss on 1946 operations, there has been a gradual improvement in our condition. We are immediately sharing with our customers the benefits of this improvement."

Lincoln Park Getting Dressed For Date with Diamond Fans

Lincoln park is getting dressed up for a date with baseball fans April 29.

The local club executive committee, Dick Law, Larry Axe and Hugo Maio, is planning an extensive remodeling and overhaul program before the first home game gets under way 31 days per.

There are now 134 box seats in the stadium all of which have been sold. Forty-eight more will be constructed at ground level along the first and third base lines. Twenty-four boxes will be built on each side of the diamond.

New Bleachers Planned

Also planned is the building of bleachers to seat 500 persons on the third base side.

A new public address system has been installed with an extension mike which can be run down to home plate. A record player has been added.

Other features that will make the park shine on opening night are new base sacks and pitchers rubber. The reflectors of the field lights will be refinished with a glare proof paint.

With such improvements club officials hope to be able to handle the crowds that may be even greater than last year when attendance was 76,000.

Each year since 1944 when the league was revived, local attendance has improved and W. Dexter Hazen, club president, looks for the same to happen this season.

This year he expects Marion to field its best team since organization. In the past they have always started the season with a group of players in their first year of organized ball while this season 16 of the signed players have had one year's experience.

Another reason Hazen thinks that Marion will do better this season is the letters he has received from Nelson Burbrink, the new player manager.

Burbrink stated that Marion would have a hustling club and that he thought that that was the kind of team which won games and finished with the leaders.

Housing Problem on Hands

A problem facing the club is the finding of an apartment for Burbrink and his wife here during the season. They are also looking for homes in which players can stay.

To date they have places for 34 players but room must be found for about 14 more, at least during spring training.

To date all but two of the Cubs have indicated that they will be here for the opening of spring training and about 11 more players who are not signed are expected to try out for the team.

peals tribunal? The board is not a judicial institution under the law. This is tyranny—and not petty tyranny.

What, moreover, of the threat to national security from strikes in coal, electric power and railroads" Are we to depend on government seizure, with a long supreme court rigmarole every time our lives and health are threatened?

The Ives and Morse suggestions do not offer equality of bargaining power.

Such mild proposals may ultimately prevail, what with soft-hearted senators, presidential aspirants and a Truman-Schwellenbach opposition to any fundamental relief. If they do, the public will speak again in 1948, and drastic changes will result.

Ives proposes that a joint committee study the whole labor problem and issue a report in 1948 This makes one think of a combination of a professor, to whom time is no consideration, and a politician seeking an alibi for inaction Perhaps Ives is something of both

It is not study that is needed It is courage, clear thinking and resolute action

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"YES, she ate perhaps half a dozen of the little snacks," I told Dr. Twichell, feeling as if I were a school pupil waiting for a reprimand.

"She's holding out on you, Doctor, because she's feeling convictions of sin!" Mary's voice said merrily from the bed. "I'll bet I had an even dozen, and yum, yum, were they good! I'd been starved for two days!"

"You washed them down with plenty of hot tea?" the physician asked, his voice and face still noncommittal.

Extravagant Speech

"Gallons!" Mary told him, and he smiled at her extravagance of speech.

"Then I am sure they didn't hurt you in the least," he said, and I drew a free breath again, released from guilt.

"But," he said, shaking an admonitory finger at her, "no more snacks, or indeed, anything but light food, until your temperature becomes normal again."

"You mean, slops," Mary said dolefully.

"I mean light food," the old physician retorted firmly. "But I am sure your aunt will be able to make them appetizing."

"If she can't, nobody can," Mary admitted. "Oh, yes! Aunt Katharine could, but she isn't around."

Madge Alarmed

"Mrs. Bicket is away from the city?" he asked, and there was a nuance in his voice which made my throat constrict. Was it possible that he considered Mary's condition serious enough to require the services of a trained nurse?

"Yes, she and her husband are in Washington for an indefinite stay," I told him.

"H-m-m!" He held the monosyllable for the fraction of a second, then turned to me.

"Well, I must be getting on," he said, with the inane phrasing which covers a bit of confusion. "She must have absolute rest and quiet tonight. Right now, I want her to have a hot, relaxing tub bath, but she must not stay in it more than five minutes. Then — are you hungry?" He turned abruptly to Mary.

"I don't know," she replied, and there was honest doubt in her voice.

"You'll probably find out after your hot bath and the brisk rub down which your aunt will give you," he said. "If you're hungry, you may have soft-boiled eggs, buttered toast, a bit of jam, some plain ice cream, and as much tea as you like.

If Not Hungry

"But if you're not hungry," he went on, " your aunt must see to it that you have two cups of hot milk, some crackers or toast, and plenty of hot tea before you go to sleep. Sometime during or after the meal, she will give you one of these tablets"—he handed a small envelope to me—"and then I hope she will hear nothing more of you until morning."

He turned back to me.

"I must add one more direction," he said. "No visitors tonight, or until after I see you again in the morning."

"Oh-h Doctor!" The wail of protest came from Mary, and I rejoiced to hear it. The sound meant that she really wanted to see Noel, even if she did dread his possible chiding reaction to her leaving the sanitarium so summarily.

Has Not Seen Husband

"She has not seen her husband since she went to the sanitarium months ago," I explained to Dr. Twitchell, although I was sure that he had heard everything about the situation from Dicky. I also was conjecturing that the experienced old physician's dictum about visitors had been made for the express purpose of getting his patient's reaction. If she had shown dread of seeing her husband, there wouldn't have been a chance of Noel seeing his wife before morning.

"H-m-m," Dr. Twitchell considered. "How soon is he apt to be here?"

"Fairly soon," I said. "My husband can find out exactly when you go back to the sitting room."

"I don't want to be arbitrary," Dr. Twitchell said. "I'll wait until he comes over, and if he will promise to say nothing exciting or troubling, I'll let him see you,"—he smiled at Mary, — "for ten minutes."

WHAT IS IT??

Gasoline Alley By Frank King

I'M BACK AGAIN, MR. ENRAY. UNCLE WALT HAS OFTEN TOLD ME NOT TO GO ON ANYBODY'S NOTE UNLESS I'M PREPARED TO PAY IT IF THE FIRST PARTY DEFAULTS.
GOOD ADVICE, SON.
THAT'S WHY I WOULDN'T ASK HIM TO GO ON MINE. ISN'T THERE SOME OTHER WAY?
WITH PART OF THAT $7000 WE'D TAKE UP THE OPTION, THEN THE LOT AND BUILDING WOULD BE OURS.
THE REST WOULD BE PUT INTO THE NEW SHOP. A MORTGAGE ON ALL THAT, AND OUR PROSPECTS, WOULDN'T BE TOO BAD AN INVESTMENT, WOULD IT?
NO, WALLET, IT WOULDN'T. WE WILL MAKE THE LOAN.

IT MAY NOT BE FOR LONG, TILDA— DR. CRONK SAYS HE MAY COME OUT OF IT ANY DAY, NOW—
BETWEEN HIS MOANING FOR CHLOE AND HIS SCREAMING TO ENLIST IN THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR, I'M LOSING MY MIND!—
HERE'S A GADGET THAT'LL QUIET OUR PATIENT—
A PHONOGRAPH! OH BOY! I HOPE YOU'VE GOT THAT BRAND-NEW CYLINDER, "HOT TIME IN THE OLD TOWN TONIGHT"
